WESTFALL LAB BAND — The Westfall High School lab band, pictured above, will be one of the featured groups in this Saturday's Night of Harmony, sponsored by the Elks Singers of Circleville B.P.O. Elks Lodge No. 77. The lab band, under the direction of Mark Hosler, is a 24 member jazz-rock style group, and they will perform selections such as Norwegian Wood, You're So Vain, and Hey Jude. The group will feature various members on these arrangements, and a special feature will be Miss Pumpkin Show, Karen Cochran, singing the Carly Simon hit, You're So Vain. It is an excellent chance to see some of the outstanding musical talent in the county schools, and all proceeds will go to the school music departments and the Elks prime charity—cerebral palsy. It all starts at 7:30 p.m. at the Circleville High School auditorium. Make plans to attend.

Ohioans Expected To Vote In Record Numbers Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Despite a statewide ticket devoid of candidates, Ohioans were expected to vote in record numbers today in an off-year election marked by major warfare over instant voter registration and the emotional issue of leghold animal traps.

The U.S. Weather Service said temperatures under cloudy skies should be unseasonably warm, with a high near 70 degrees, but that a 50 per cent chance of rain existed in northern counties and a 20 per cent chance elsewhere.

Police Investigate Drive Thru Robbery

Circleville City Police are investigating an armed robbery that occurred at the Drive Thru, 475 E. Main St. about 7:15 p.m. Monday.

According to Ptl. Howard Fletcher's report, Debra Smith, an employee of the drive thru, was working alone in the store and had her back turned to the rear door of the Drive Thru.

About 7:15 p.m. she heard someone walk in the rear door. She turned around and saw a man wearing a red ski mask over his face come toward her. The man approached the counter and pulled a small pistol and stuck it in her side. The man said, "Give me all of the bills and hurry up."

Smith complied. The man told her not to do anything for four minutes or his friend outside would blow her apart, the report said.

The man then ran out of the Drive Thru south through the alley. Shortly afterward, Smith said she heard tires squealing on Franklin Street.

Smith waited about four minutes before calling police. She said that she saw no other person but that two or three minutes before the robbery a person came in the Drive Thru while another waited outside.

The man took $135 in cash. He is described as six-foot, five-inches tall, slim, wearing a dark brown jacket, blue jeans and a red ski mask. He had bushy eyebrows and dirty hands. There were large pockets on the jacket and the man had a deep voice.

Gerald L. Owens, 5681 Cook Road, Ashville, said he parked his truck on the west parking lot of the Second National Bank Monday evening. While he was gone someone removed a $25 CB antenna from the right rear bumper. The incident occurred between 7:30 and 11:30 p.m.

Homer Arnold Cottrell, 35, 106 Margaret Lane said two tires and two wheels were taken from his 1968 Chevrolet between 10:30 and 11:58 p.m. Monday evening.

Zed W. Smith, 415 E. Union St. said that someone removed a $169 CB radio from his truck while it was parked behind the Elks Lodge between 5:30 and 6:30 p.m. Smith said the vehicle had been locked and was locked when the theft was discovered.

Noel Rader, 100 Northridge Road, said a garage employee of his took a car without permission and wrecked the vehicle Nov. 1. Damage was estimated at $1,000.

Gladys Temple, 367 Watt St.; Evert Thompson, 342 E. Main St. and Veteran Secretary of State Ted Brown predicted a turnout of 2.85 million voters, which would eclipse the previous high of 2,795,892 for an off-year election set in 1965.

By far the most significant of four statewide constitutional amendments, was Issue 1 which would repeal the state's five-month-old law allowing citizens to register and vote the same day.

The Issue 2 proposal to ban leghold traps, like instant registration, caught national attention resulting in a deluge of media advertisements and a flood of claims by each warring camp that the other side misrepresented the facts to voters.

Attracting less attention on the state ballot were Issues 3 and 4, which propose, respectively, a new program to help finance housing for low- and moderate-income families, and provide alternate means for Ohio to finance capital improvements.

Brown said his record forecast also stemmed from the proliferation of levies scattered among about 250 school districts, including 20 in which passage is needed to keep schools open. The Toledo school district already has closed and will remain shut down until Jan. 1 unless its levy is approved.

The Issue 1 proposal, generally pitting Republicans against Democrats but with some notable exceptions, caught national attention because of President Carter's endorsement of election day registrations.

Ohio's Democrat legislature enacted it last May over the veto of GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes. A group called Ohioans for the Preservation of Honest Elections, made up of mostly Republican election board members, then circulated petitions to place the repealer on Tuesday's ballot.

Similarly, the leghold trap amendment was placed before the electorate by the Ohio Committee for Humane Trapping, after the legislature

Survivors Digging Out Of Flood Ruins

TOCCOA, Ga. (AP) — Some college students inspected the Kelly Barnes dam two hours before it broke early Sunday and reported it appeared "as solid as a rock," an aide to Gov. George Busbee said today. Flooding from the collapsed dam took at least 38 lives.

Tom Perdue told a news conference that David Fledderjohann and several other students inspected the dam because of the torrential rains and they reported there seemed to be no danger.

The earthen dam burst about 1:30 a.m. Sunday, sending an avalanche of muddy water, boulders and trees to the lowlying campus area of Toccoa Falls Bible College. The greatest destruction occurred at two trailer parks on the banks of Toccoa Creek, a shallow stream that flowed from an 80-acre lake the dam held back.

According to Perdue, Fledderjohann, a volunteer fireman and student at the college, was responsible for checking the dam. He died when the dam burst while trying to warn residents in the trailer park of the possibility of danger.

Perdue did not specify to whom Fledderjohann reported after the inspection. He said the men continued to watch the creek below Toccoa Falls after they returned to the campus area. He said earlier that there was no emphasis in looking for fault. Responsibility for maintaining the dam has not been clearly determined.

"Last year," Perdue said, "the college received $39,500 from the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration for repairs along the creek bank, some roads and some buildings because of flash flooding which occurred Memorial Day last year."

"The FDAA did not include any money for the dam, because it had not been damaged. Part of the money was used to repair the approach road to the dam and F. R. Hanson, vice president of the college, made a visual inspection of the dam Nov. 2 to look at road repairs made as a result of that money."

"Hanson and two employees of the highway department walked the road across the dam Nov. 3. Hanson inferred to me that visual inspections of the dam were made at least three times a year and more often when there are heavy rains."

Nuclear Treaty Will End Tests Underground

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Soviet offer to halt so-called "peaceful" nuclear explosions probably will lead to a treaty banning all underground tests, a high-level Carter administration official says.

But the treaty will fall short of Kremlin desires in at least one area, he said. The United States will reject a previously unrevealed facet of the offer, a Soviet request for an understanding that testing for civilian purposes be allowed to resume in three years or so.

Even without that concession by the United States, however, the Soviets are expected to agree to a ban.

In fact, the official said, the Russians had no major experiments planned during that three-year period anyway.

The Russians have tested underground nuclear explosions for such projects as reversing the courses of rivers. For years, they wanted these blasts to be allowed even while prohibiting underground weapons tests.

But administration arms experts say the distinction between a "peaceful" and a military test is difficult to verify. Beyond that, they say, it is almost impossible to separate military benefits derived from such a test from the peaceful benefits.

For these reasons, the United States — unsuccessfully until now — has pushed for an accord with the Russians banning both kinds of explosions.

Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev made the offer of a comprehensive ban in a speech last week before the Supreme Soviet, the nation's parliament, in a session marking the 60th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance quickly welcomed the offer as a "major step" toward a comprehensive test ban and "a downturn in the arms race."

The treaty would supersede two Ford administration agreements prohibiting underground tests above 150 kilotons, the equivalent of 150,000 tons of TNT. Those treaties are still awaiting Senate ratification.

Tests in the atmosphere, outer space and under water already are outlawed.

Brezhnev did not make clear in his speech whether he was offering to halt all underground tests indefinitely. But the administration official, who would not allow use of his name, said the offer is limited and has a catch — the Russians wanted a tacit agreement by the United States that peaceful testing could resume upon expiration of the treaty.

Even though the United States is refusing to agree to that provision, a treaty is highly probable, according to the official. He said both superpowers have enough self-interest in halting all underground tests to complete terms in Geneva.

Director Appointed At Berger

MRS. DONNA HIGGINS

The announcement has been made by Charles Rideout, Administrator of Berger Hospital that Donna Higgins, R.N., has been appointed Director of Inservice Education, Infection Control.

Ms. Higgins is a graduate of Decatur Memorial Hospital School of Nursing in Decatur, Ill. She received her B.S. in nursing from Millikin University, also in Decatur.

He experience includes coronary care, intensive care, and trauma nursing as well as nursing education. She has experience in developing orientation programs for nurses, continuing education programs for R.N.'s and L.P.N.'s and in developing audio-visual programs.

She is a member of Pickaway County Nurses' Association of which she is Vice-President, Ohio Chapter of American Society for Health Manpower Education and Training, Health Learning Regional Center Advisory Council, and the Pickaway County Chapter of American Heart Association.

Ms. Higgins, her husband, Patrick and their children John and Rebecca reside at 1120 Atwater Ave. Mr. Higgins is District Executive for Central Ohio Council of Boy Scouts of America.

Warner Communications.

The networks and the news directors organization are interested in airing at least portions of the tapes. Warner indicated a desire to commercially reproduce the tapes.

Attorneys for Nixon argued when they sought Supreme Court review in June 1976 that such reproductions would be "played at cocktail parties and in satiric productions and ... be exploited in any other fashion."

Last January, lawyers for the networks and the others seeking release of the tapes submitted a proposal to U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica that envisions the National Archives selling one-hour segments of the tapes for $3.75 to $5.75.

The Supreme Court has been confronted with four other legal controversies involving Nixon's 880 reels of once-secret recordings.

In 1974, the court's ruling that a claim of presidential privilege could not be used to withhold evidence in a criminal trial forced him to surrender 30 of the tapes to the special Watergate prosecutor and hastened Nixon's resignation.

Last June, the justices ruled that the government, and not Nixon, controls the 5,000 hours of recordings — as well as the 42 million pages of documents — generated by Nixon's 5½-year presidency.

And in September, the court let stand a lower court's ruling that Nixon's tapes could be released for possible use in civil trials as well as criminal proceedings.

Market Report

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market gained more ground today, responding to General Motors' declaration of a record fourth quarter dividend.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose 1.39 to 817.83 in the first half hour.

Gainers outpaced losers by more than a 2-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

At the close Monday GM declared a quarterly payout of $3.25 a share, including an increase in the "regular" dividend from 85 cents to $1.

Analysts said the action, which brought GM's payments this year to $6.80 a share, gave a psychological lift to the overall market since it was seen as an expression of confidence by the nation's second largest industrial corporation.

GM shares, which rose 1 1/2 points on Monday, were steady at 68 1/2 in early trading today.

On Monday the Dow Jones industrial average rose 6.50 to 816.44, extending its gain for the past three sessions to 15.59 points.

Advances outnumbered declines by a wide margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume totaled 21.27 million shares against 21.70 million in the previous session.

The NYSE's composite index picked up .40 to 50.67.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index gained .79 to 113.67.

rejected a similar ban three years ago. Issues 3 and 4 originated in the legislature.

As late as Monday, campaign charges continued to fly between foes on the instant registration question.

Secretary Brown, a Republican who urges repeal, said he was sending 50 inspectors to Cleveland to monitor the instant signups, but that he had no reason to believe there would be "organized fraud" in the state's largest city.

He said he was sending the inspectors because of expected close races in municipal contests for mayor and council, indicating he feared irregularities that could influence their outcome.

His announcement brought an immediate protest from the Citizens to Save the Right to Vote, which urges defeat of the Issue 1 repealer, and says Brown washed out in an attempt to show illegal voting in Cleveland's October primary, where instant registration was permitted.

Mrs. Regina O'Leary of Cleveland, co-chairman of the citizens' group, said Brown's earlier report of a 49 per cent "error rate" in the primary was inaccurate after investigation failed to show that anyone voted illegally.

Brown had said that the 49 per cent figure applied to election day registrants, and indicated the number who were permitted to vote without meeting identification requirements set forth in the instant registration law.

He blamed the errors on lack of training by polling place workers, who should have been instructed to accept only a valid driver's license or an Ohio identification card, such as those issued the elderly and handicapped, or to require another voter in the same precinct to vouch for the new registrant's place of residence.

Kidnaper Innocent

By Reason Of Insanity

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The scar where wire held a shotgun to his neck has faded, but mortgage executive Richard Hall says psychological wounds were reopened when a jury acquitted the gunman who held him hostage three days last winter.

Hall told a news conference in Indianapolis Monday, "I'll never be the person I was. My being taken hostage was the worst thing that ever happened to me and to my family."

Anthony Kiritais was found innocent of kidnapping by reason of insanity. Hall was abducted Feb. 8 and held in a booby-trapped apartment.

Kiritais contended he was driven insane by efforts of Hall's company to foreclose on a loan for 17 acres of land. He faces a hearing Wednesday to determine whether he is sane and can be set free.

That possibility worries Hall. But he said he is not going to hide and will not be afraid.

Akron Man Charged With Bizarre Death

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Police charged an Akron man with murder today in the bizarre death of a teen-aged Akron girl and a subsequent three-county car chase that injured six persons and smashed nine vehicles.

Officers said the girl, Tonia Robinson, 13, was abducted Monday evening as she walked from her home toward a nearby store to buy some powdered drink mix. She subsequently was strangled and her body, nude from the waist down, was dragged by a car at the end of a rope which was knotted around her neck, police said.

Milton Bryant, 22, a neighbor, was charged with kidnapping and aggravated murder, police said.

Initial reports of the slaying came from neighboring Medina County. The chase began on an expressway in this Summit County city and drew additional police cruisers from several suburbs, including Independence, and wound up on Cleveland's lakefront.

Police said a resident of Sharon Center, eight miles west of Akron, and two hunters had noted odd movements of a car with blinking lights and went to investigate.

As the car stopped, the hunters approached, saw the body tied to a rope and lying on the pavement, and heard the driver saying incoherently that he thought he had hurt the girl, police said.

The hunters ran for the guns they had in their truck, and the car driver picked up the body and drove away, police said. That's when the search for the car began.

An Akron policeman in his personal car reported seeing the wanted car heading north toward Cleveland and alerted colleagues by citizens band radio. Then the chase began.

Independence police set up a roadblock, but the car rammed a police cruiser at 70 miles an hour, injuring one officer seriously, Akron police said. The rest of the injuries sustained during the chase were minor.

While the chase sped northward, other officers found the girl's body on a median strip at an Akron intersection. Cleveland police joined the chase, and the car finally left Interstate 90 at a near-downtown Cleveland exit, smashing into seven cars and injuring five persons before coming to a halt.

Cleveland police arrested Bryant and later turned him over to Akron officers, who filed the charges.

Elections Over The Nation Dominated By Local Issues

By The Associated Press

Voters are choosing mayors in 38 major cities and picking governors in New Jersey and Virginia, on an election day dominated by local issues and dampened by the weather.

Rain has historically benefited Republicans and could affect today's turnouts in both gubernatorial states, where the races are considered close.

In Virginia, where some areas have been flooded, Democrat Henry Howell opposes Republican Lt. Gov. John Dalton.

New Jersey's incumbent Democrat, Gov. Brendan Byrne, is challenged by a Republican state senator, Raymond Bateman.

Rain is also forecast for many of the mayoral cities including New York, where Democrat Edward Koch is expected to win easily regardless of the weather.

In several cities, black candidates are trying to capture city halls.

In New York, the historically accurate Daily News straw poll gave Koch 53 percent of the vote to 39 for his nearest rival, Secretary of State Mario Cuomo.

New York's major issue, Mayor Abraham Beame's handling of the city's finances, disappeared with Koch's defeat of the mayor in the Democratic primary.

Cuomo is the Liberal Party choice. Republican State Sen. Roy Goodman and radio personality Barry Farber, the Conservative Party entry, also are running, but with little hope.

Neighboring New Jersey still has its overriding issue, the state income tax that Byrne supports and Bateman wants to kill.

Byrne, who weathered a tough Democratic primary, had been trailing Bateman, but both sides now agree the outcome is in doubt.

The New Jersey contest was financed mostly out of public funds, with each candidate receiving $1 million from the state treasury.

In Virginia, Howell has said the state's largest electric utility, major banks and insurance companies reflect a "Tory plantation" policy represented by Dalton.

Dalton, a millionaire lawyer, has said Howell is a liberal and a big spender who would bring the state higher taxes and labor control of the government.

Blacks are trying to become the first of their race to win the New Orleans and Buffalo, N.Y. mayoralities.

The New Orleans election will be held Saturday with a black judge, Ernest Morial, facing Councilman Joseph DiRosa in a runoff.

Coleman Young, Detroit's first black mayor, is expected to be an easy winner over Ernest C. Browne, who also is black.

There are a dozen names on the ballot in Houston, where incumbent Mayor Fred Hofheinz is not running.

It's an all-Democratic election in Cleveland, where Dennis Kucinich and Edward F. Feighan are the finalists. Republican Mayor Ralph Perk was eliminated in the primary.

Other big cities electing mayors today include Seattle; Pittsburgh; Minneapolis; Toledo and Dayton, Ohio; Miami; Louisville, Ky.; and Charlotte, N.C.

Attempt To Save Hand By Surgery Fails

CLEVELAND (AP) — A surgical attempt to save a man's hand that was severed in an industrial accident, failed Monday.

Doctors at St. Joseph Hospital in Lorain amputated the left hand of Charles Gibson Jr. Sandusky. It had been mangled Thursday in a machine at the American Crayon Co., Sandusky.

Two Amherst doctors had worked for three hours to reattach the hand. Gibson was in serious condition Monday night.

Couple Sues Firms For $5 Million

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — A suit seeking nearly $5 million has been filed by a Huntertown couple in federal court here.

The action by Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Greene claims negligence by 13 manufacturers and distributors of asbestos insulation caused the wife to contract a cancer.

The suit said a tumor Mrs. Greene contracted resulted from daily contact with work clothes of her husband, who has installed insulation since 1951.

25 YEARS AT G.E. — Edward N. Dumm was recently honored for 25 years of service with General Electric's Circleville Lamp Plant. Plant Manager E. G. Grigg made the presentation of the 25 year award. Ed began his career at GE as a taper in 1952. He is currently employed in "A" Maintenance, a position he has held for 6 years.

Grand Theft Reported

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Office investigated a report of burglary and grand theft that occurred shortly after 8 p.m. Monday.

According to the report, Dorwin Hay, Ashville, discovered that thieves had broken into a garage on his father's farm property. Once inside, the culprits removed a variety of merchandise, including drills, wrenches, a chain saw, and a voltage tester. As they were leaving, the thieves apparently took additional wrenches and a log chain from a loader and crane parked at a nearby gravel bank. Total value of the missing merchandise was set at $825.

Deputy Don Hamilton investigated the incident.

Two Girls Decorating Locker Room

PAINTERS

By JACKIE GOODE AND MARSHA GREENWALT
Diane Martin and Beth Bell donate their free time improving the Logan Elm girls' locker room.
Mrs. Kathy Thompson, physical education instructor and sometimes helper on the project, felt that the black and white paintings would help improve the athletic program and brighten the locker room. She also feels that it gives the students more respect for the locker room.
The paintings are of a basketball, volleyball, track, and softball player, and also a Tiger comic strip. Each has a focal point that stands out.

Hoover Voted 'Mister Ugly'

By BRUCE HANNIGAN
F.C.A., Fellowship Christian Athlete, is raising money to paint the walls of the cafeteria. To pay for the paint we came up with the Mr. Ugly contest. There are four candidates participating, for freshman Jeff Scanlan, from the sophomores Phil Evans, juniors Cliff Hoover, and seniors Rocky Huggins. The students would vote for their candidates by putting donations in their can. The winner was Cliff Hoover with 390 votes which was $12.80.

Employment Of Graduates

By MARK VANOVER AND JEFF DAVIS
Three 1966 graduates of Logan Elm High School are now successfully employed. Rick Rawlins is serving the U.S. government as a Secret Service Agent, and Steve Burger is working as a school administrator, with Dean Poling working as a farmer and selling real estate.
Of the 1967 class, Tim Huffman has his scissors working for him at a barber shop and also works at DuPont. In the same class, Tom Smith moved across the map to Colorado as a mining engineer.
Going up a year to the 1968 class, Jim Barnhart stayed at home as a custodian here at Logan Elm, and

Guest Speaker From Israel

By KIM DENNEY
Guest speaker for Mr. Wiggins' classes at Logan Elm School on Oct. 25 was Joel Hjertstedt who lives in Jerusalem. He is originally from Ohio, but moved to Israel with his parents who are missionaries there.
He talked about the background and present state of Israel, and presented examples of speaking and writing in Hebrew. He enjoys living in Israel and being a part of its culture.
He will be going on a tour to several other states during his stay here. After returning to Circleville for a short stay, he will travel back to Israel.

Mike Rittinger is a farmer here in Pickaway County.

Students Working Hard At Vocational School

ABBY RIFE
By BEV HASKINS

Abby Rife and Teresa Newman are doing excellent jobs of representing Logan Elm while attending the Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational School.

Abby is the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Rife of 1614 Harrison Street, Laurelville. Some of Abby's hobbies include volleyball, basketball, tennis, cooking, camping and canoeing. At the J.V.S. Abby is taking High Skill Stenography. When asked what Abby thought of the school she commented, "It's a good opportunity to get a job after graduation even if you are going to college."

Teresa Newman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Newman, she is seventeen years old and resides at 1610 Sherman St., Laurelville. Some of her hobbies are outdoor sports, spending money and she works at Tatmans Restaurant and part time at Commercial-Lovelace Motor Freight. Teresa is taking small skill stenography. She made this comment, "If you're not sure about your future plans, come down and look around. Even if you are going to college, it would help you work your way through."

At the vocational school there are five clubs, one of which is O.E.A. (Office Education Association) and Abby and Teresa both are very active.

Abby is O.E.A. Queen and also Regional candidate for treasurer, she received runner-up. Abby is also O.E.A. chapter treasurer.

Teresa is O.E.A. chapter president, region two president and on Nov. 5 she will attend the state screening for state president at Eastland Vocational Center. Teresa is also active on the student executive committee. She holds the office of secretary.

Both girls went to Texas for the O.E.A. National Convention, they were there for six days. This year it will be held in Michigan on Nov. 18 and 19.

Both girls would encourage all sophomores and others to attend open house Dec. 4.

Mrs. McClelland Teaching For Seventeen Years

MRS. DOROTHY MCCLELLAND

By JEFF BLOOMFIELD
Mrs. Dorothy McClelland, business and bookkeeping teacher at Logan Elm, has been teaching for 17 years. Mrs. McClelland attended Ohio University; she started teaching at Newcomerstown.

She has had times when she wanted to quit, but she would not quit teaching if she did not enjoy it. Even if she could, she said she wouldn't change anything about students. When asked how students have changed since she began teaching, she said, "Their lack of respect for authority of any kind on the negative side, but there have been a lot of changes on the positive side. They are more aware of what is going on in the world and most of them know where they are going."

Mrs. McClelland is also a Snoopy freak. She likes Snoopy's sense of humor and his philosophy.

Team Undefeated

By TIM COLLINS
"Undefeated" is a good expression describing L.E.H.S. girls' varsity volleyball team. L.E. beat Bloom Carroll last Thursday for the Mid-State Championship for a 12-0 record.

The varsity team consists of four seniors; Diane Martin, Abby Rife, Beth Bell and Krista Gifford, one junior; Diane Weaver and two sophomores; Brenda Bell and Susan DeLong. Head coach is Mrs. Linda Vaughan. Now that the Mid-State League play is over they are seated number one in the sectionals and go into action Nov. 5.

Group To Sing

Levy Affects Schools Future

By TAMMY WOOTEN
Tuesday marks the date when constituents of the Logan Elm School District will vote on the 3.5 mill school levy. A mill is a thousandth of a dollar whereas a tax rate of one mill on a dollar is the same as one dollar per thousand dollars. The total amount to 3.5 mills is $256,222.25. If the levy passes, the district would not receive any money until February or May 1978 and the balance in August and November 1978.

But say the levy doesn't pass, Logan Elm would not be able to continue without additional funds and would not be able to finish the first half of the '78-'79 school year. The levy would be voted on again in '78 and it would be '79 before funds would be collected; thus the school would be out of operation for a year.

The state will not contribute to the district financial support because Logan Elm has many large industries making it a "rich district." It takes back an equal amount they had given us before, therefore the income not increasing but the expenses rising. The district has cut expenses as far as possible.

The 3.5 mill is the minimum millage increase, just to keep the school from closing and brings it up to the 1975 level of 26.1 mills for school operating purposes.

Bank failures in New York City caused a financial panic in 1873.

EPA Vs Uncle Sam

One of the more annoying habits of an arrogant bureaucracy is the position it tries to establish for itself above its peers. It is an attitude which proclaims: We make the rules and regulations for all, but we don't necessarily have to follow them ourselves.

That misconception in Washington is being shot down in one important regard by the Environmental Protection Agency. Embarrassed by studies by business groups which show the federal government is one of the worst violators of clean air and water acts, the EPA has warned eleven federal agencies that unless they take immediate steps to comply with the nation's clean air and water acts, they could be taken to court.

By the EPA's own reckoning, as of Oct. 7, 38 percent of the largest federal agencies were in violation of the clean water law and 24 percent still were sending illegal amounts of pollutants into the air.

Wasteful though it would be of taxpayers' funds for one agency to sue another, the double standard on antipollution laws must not be permitted to continue. Industry and local governments have been saddled with a severe bill to clean up their operations. The federal government should have been setting the example, but better now than never.

Poignant Experience

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — The cliché has it that a great actor like Sir Laurence Olivier could make him drama out of the reading of a telephone book.

Borrowing on the thought, a fine producer like Robert Radnitz can make an audience weep by adapting a newspaper editorial into a movie.

"And I cry, too," admits Bob Radnitz, speaking of "Mary White," the two-hour film he has based on a 1921 editorial by the late Kansas journalist-editor, William Allen White. White wrote the editorial about his 16-year-old daughter, Mary, after she was killed in a horseback riding accident. "I have seen this picture over and over, hundreds of times, and at the end of it, I always sit and bawl," confesses Radnitz. "Maybe I should be embarrassed."

But he is not. Radnitz, whose prize-winning films include "Sounder," "Misty" and "A Dog of Flanders," draws his strength from an unusual sensitivity to people, old and young. He brings the old and the young together on film, always attempting and ultimately succeeding in bridging communications gaps.

It was the tender relationship between William Allen White and his daughter, as revealed in the editorial, that touched Radnitz 41 years ago — when, he says, he "First read it in a seventh grade English class. I don't think I cried about it then. You don't cry when you're a 12-year-old boy, if you can help it. But that editorial always stayed with me. There was no question in my mind, even at that age and living in Great Neck, Long Island, that I wanted to make movies. I stuck 'Mary White' in the back of my consciousness and, over the many years after, it never left me."

The scene shifts to Hollywood, in 1938. "One of my first jobs," said Radnitz, "was story consultant with Buddy Adler, who was head of 20th Century-Fox, and I suggested that 20th make a movie of 'Mary White.' I still have the memo I wrote about it. Buddy loved it, but it didn't happen."

Radnitz then went on to making other films, including "Island of the Blue Dolphins" and "Where the Lilies Bloom" — all of them financial successes and critically acclaimed; in March of 1973 he became the first filmmaker honored jointly on the floors of both the U.S. Senate and the House of Representatives for his achievements.

That same year, 1973, he succeeded in interesting ABC-TV in "Mary White."

"For years, TV executives had come to me to ask if I'd like to produce something on television, but we always struck an impasse," recalls Radnitz. "When I made my suggestions, they'd say 'Where's the action? Where's the jeopardy?' My kind of stories don't have that."

"But finally, about four years ago, I told ABC, 'If you guys would let me do what I want to do, it's a deal.' They said, 'What do you want to do?' I said, 'Mary White.' They said okay."

The long-awaited project threatened to collapse, at the onset, when the late William Allen White's son appeared reluctant to give permission for the dramatization. "Time went by," says Radnitz, and then once when (Supreme Court) Justice William O. Douglas and his wife, Kathy, were visiting at my home, I discussed it with them. Douglas said he had known White well, and sitting out on the deck of our house, he reread the editorial and became excited. He said, 'you're right — this ought to be done, because it has what I call the grain of this country in it!'"

Through Justice Douglas, Bob Radnitz was put in telephone contact with the family; This was followed by a visit to Emporia, Kansas, and approval to proceed.

There was no problem of expanding an editorial into a two-hour movie (to be shown, with only one commercial interruption, on Friday, Nov. 18). "I learned so much about Mary White — there are still many people in Emporia who remember her vividly — I could have made a six-hour film," said Radnitz. "She was a fascinating, beautiful child, far ahead of her years and times. The greatest influence on her life was Jane Addams. She knew Theodore Roosevelt like an uncle. Yet her father called her 'Peter Pan' because she never wanted to grow up."

The movie opens with Mary's tragic death, then shifts to actor Ed Flanders, as William Allen White, walking out of the Gazette, immediately following the writing of the editorial. He walks the streets of Emporia, reminiscing about her.

The famous editorial concludes with the lines, "A rift in the clouds in a gray day threw a shaft of sunlight upon her coffin as her nervous, energetic little body sank to its last sleep, but the soul of her, the glowing, gorgeous, fervent soul of her, surely was flaming in eager joy upon some other dawn."

Can such expressions of fatherly love and admiration be transferred to the screen? Robert Radnitz, who has a 19-year-old daughter of his own, felt for 41 years that they not only could — but must — be.

Suspended Archbishop Opens Own Church

OYSTER BAY COVE, N.Y. (AP) — Archbishop Marcel Lefebvre, the 72-year-old French prelate suspended by Pope Paul VI over his opposition to updating the Catholic liturgy, has dedicated the U.S. headquarters of his traditionalist sect.

"This is a nice church for you and for all who want to keep the Catholic faith," Lefebvre told 700 of his followers in heavily accented English during Sunday's ceremonies.

The archbishop and his Society of St. Pius X believe the Roman Catholic Church has changed so much in recent years that it has lost true faith. Lefebvre said he has defied the Pope's suspension "because I think it is my duty to continue the Catholic Church."

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 8, the 312nd day of 1977. There are 53 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1950, the first battle between jet airplanes took place as American fighters were attacked by North Korean MiGs in the Korean War.

On this date: In 1519, the Spanish conqueror, Hernando Cortez, reached Mexico City.

In 1864, Abraham Lincoln was re-elected president.

In 1889, Montana became the 41st state.

In 1923, Adolf Hitler's Beer Hall Putsch failed in Munich.

In 1959, the United Arab Republic and the Sudan ended five years of negotiations by signing an agreement for the division of the Nile Valley waters.

In 1960, John Kennedy defeated Richard Nixon for the U.S. presidency. Ten years ago: Chrysler Corp. and the United Automobile Workers reached tentative agreement on a new labor contract, avoiding a strike set for five days.

Five years ago: It was announced that Life magazine would cease regular publication at the end of the year, 35 years after its birth.

One year ago: Wall posters in Shanghai said that radicals had planned a revolt against the Chinese government but abandoned the plot.

Today's birthdays: Actress Katharine Hepburn is 68 years old. Singer Patti Page is 50.

Thought for today: I like a man who grins when he fights — Sir Winston Churchill, 1874-1975.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Can you explain the simplified "needle" operation for a prostate condition? I've been told that I need surgery. I would like to find out where this can be done.

Mr. J.H.A., Ohio.

I have never heard of any type of surgery of the prostate referred to as a "needle" operation. I can, however, speculate that the operation you refer to is one done by electrocoagulation. It is known as the "trans-urethral resection."

There are a number of surgical techniques for the removal of the prostate. The choice, made by the surgeon, depends on the age of the patient, his general physical condition and the particular type of enlargement of the prostate.

Each case is individually studied before the choice of surgery is made. The patient himself, of course, does not play a role in making this decision.

Surgery of the prostate is remarkably safe, and the benefits that accrue can be very gratifying. Rarely is this operation done as an emergency. Far too often, because it is an elective procedure, some patients delay too long following the advice of their doctors. Then, a relatively simple procedure can be converted into a complicated one.

Can high blood pressure be treated

Business World

By JOHN ROBINSON
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Many of us tenaciously believe the road to greater happiness is paved with leisure time, but a man who claims to know says the view is full of potholes.

John Robinson measured to the minute how people use their 24 hours. He convinced 1,244 urban and suburban individuals to keep diaries, and then he dissected and analyzed and correlated the results and asked for more.

The pattern is unmistakable: "Too much free time is a greater burden than to little free time." Robinson found that people least satisfied with life were those with the most time to exercise options or choices.

Further conclusions may be drawn from the evidence, but one that particularly intrigues Robinson, whose research was financed by National Science Foundation grants, is that free time might be an idolatrous god.

No, the work ethic isn't dead, but for many the goal of work is leisure — on evenings, weekends, vacations, retirement. It is the target of unions. Sociologists sometimes advocate it, advertising almost always. Leisure may in fact be the national ambition.

Robinson, a Ph. D., communications professor and director of communications research at Cleveland State University, maintains we ought to reflect more about what we do with our time. Perhaps keep a 24 hour diary.

His cross-section of Americans did that and then turned the sheets over to him. After years of computer analysis he recently produced "How Americans Use Time" (Praeger Publishers, New York).

While the individual respondents might have been surprised at their own revelations, Robinson probably wasn't any less so. Maybe you won't be either.

—The dominant difference in the way time-usage breaks down is along lines of sex. Only minimal differences result from age, income, region, education and the like. But 80 per cent of time given to housework-child rearing is by women.

The men simply do not contribute what seems to be a fair share around the house. Even when the woman works outside the home, the man is unlikely to make a major contribution. And many women say they don't want by meditation? Miss D.E., N.Y.

Dar Miss E.: Many unorthodox methods — meditation, yoga, and even biofeedback — have been tried and acclaimed as being valuable for the reduction of high blood pressure.

Any method that reduces emotional tension and induces relaxation and tranquility is a contribution to patients who are also receiving standard medical treatment for the condition.

The meditation techniques are not meant to supplant the use of the many excellent drugs that are now available for the control of high blood pressure.

I'm giving some thought to having an operation to remove the bags under my eyes. Is it possible for surgeons to guarantee their results?

Mrs. D.L., Nev.

Dear Mrs. L.: No surgeon can or would "guarantee" the results of any operation.

The plastic surgeon can predict that you will be cosmetically benefited by the procedure. He cannot, however, say what the exact appearance of your eyes will be after surgery.

There are a good many variables in the equation of healing. Consequently, no definitive portrait can be made before the operation.

Patients should ask all questions before the operation so that there will be no confusion or disappointment.

House Swapping May Be Answer To Vacation

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Tired of the traditional vacation at a resort or hotel? Looking for a place to stay that's big enough to hold the whole family without breaking the budget? Try house-swapping.

You can get a rent-free holiday by temporarily trading your home with someone in another part of the country or world. It is time to start planning now, however, if you're interested in a swap next summer.

The advantages of house-swapping are that you have no hotel bill, you can cut down on restaurant costs by cooking your own meals and you may have a car included in the exchange. You also can learn what it's like to live in a community instead of getting only a tourist's-eye view.

There are disadvantages, too, however. With a few exceptions, maid service is not included in the swaps. You may be nervous about the idea of leaving your own possessions with strangers. The house you select may not be exactly what you had in mind. And the exchange services which put would-be house-swappers in touch with each other offer no guarantees of satisfaction.

There are a number of houseswapping plans available, but they all operate in the same basic method. An interested individual who wants to trade his or her home pays a fee to have it listed in a directory published by an exchange service. The listing usually includes a basic description of the house or apartment, the location and the time it will be available for swapping. Some services also include people who want to rent, rather than trade their homes.

Copies of the directory are mailed to everyone who has listed a house. You also may subscribe to the directory without listing your own residence. Either way, it is up to you to make contact with the owner of a listing that interests you and to work out the details.

Fees for the service generally range from $10 to $25, depending on whether you want to list your house or just receive the directory.

Most exchange services publish two lists — one around the beginning of the year and a second, auxiliary list in the early spring.

Ben Kernan of Inquiline, a Katonah, N.Y., house-swapping service founded in 1975, said Nov. 15 is the deadline for listing a home in the agency's main directory; March 15 is the deadline for the auxiliary publication. Kernan said the service expects to have about 500 listings this year — 60 per cent in the United States and 40 per cent overseas.

The Vacation Exchange Club Inc. of New York City, which was founded in 1960 and claims to be the nation's oldest houseswapping service, expects to have a total of 3,000 listings in its upcoming directories.

A spokeswoman for the club said they have had few problems, but if there is a serious complaint — about owner or occupier — the club will drop the individual from future listings.

One way to minimize the chance of trouble is to exchange references, from a bank or an employer, for example, or from previous swappers.

The address of the Vacation Exchange Club Inc. is 350 Broadway, New York, N.Y., 10013. Inquiline is at Box 208, Katonah, N.Y., 10536.

FLOWERS IN NOVEMBER

— Little Nicole Herron daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Herron, 165 Apache Drive is pictured with this purple clematis which was found blooming on Sunday in the yard of her great grandparents home, at 1116 S. Court St. The plant had bloomed in the early spring and apparently thought with the warm weather that we had been experiencing, that it was spring again.

Forecast

By The Associated Press

Cloudy, mild weather continued over Ohio today with a few widely scattered showers. Most of the rain activity faded out during the night.

A minor low pressure area was centered over Ohio this morning, moving to the north. Weak high pressure was gradually expected to spread over the state as the low moved out.

A more vigorous low pressure system was moving into the western plains this morning. The cold front associated with this system will reach a line from western Lake Superior to Texas by Wednesday morning.

Showers in the northeastern counties this morning were expected to taper off, producing a generally cloudy day with temperatures in the 60s.

The likelihood of rain will increase Wednesday with the approach of the next low pressure system.

National Cattlemen's Association Hopes To Change The Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new plan by the National Cattlemen's Association to change the law so it will be easier to gain approval for a national beef promotion program make take many months to carry out.

Even if the association succeeds in getting Congress to change the law, the normal rule-making process by the Agriculture Department would require several months before a new vote could be taken.

The maneuvering involves the Beef Research and Information Act, which was put into effect in May 1976. It provides that, if approved by two-thirds of the cattle producers who vote in a referendum, a system of check-offs can be put into effect to pay for projects aimed at promoting beef.

In a nationwide referendum conducted by the department last June 6-17, 231,027 votes were cast. Of those, 130,386 or 56.4 percent were in favor of the program and 100,641 or 43.6 percent were against.

The association's board of directors at a recent meeting in Denver decided that an attempt will be made through new legislation to change the 1976 law so a program can be put into effect if approved by a simple majority — more than 50 per cent — of those voting in a new referendum.

But the press of congressional business virtually rules out action on changing the law this year. Thus, even if an amendment is successful by next spring, it could be late in 1978 or possibly 1979 before another program is set up by the Agriculture Department a vote taken on whether to carry it out.

As presented last summer, the plan would have raised an estimated $30 million to $40 million a year from assessments of up to three-tenths of 1 percent of the value of all cattle sold.

The check-offs or assessments would have been mandatory, but producers who did not want to participate would have been able to get refunds. The money raised would have paid for research and promotion projects aimed at increasing beef consumption.

Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland was cool to the idea, particularly spending money on consumer advertising. He is not expected to support an effort to change the law to make it easier to approve a check-off program.

Canadian Attitude Called 'Petty'

MONTREAL (AP) — Premier Rene Levesque of Quebec wore a French Legion of Honor insignia in his lapel when he returned from an official visit to Paris.

Levesque, who was greeted at an airport Sunday by about 10,000 supporters, is in the center of a diplomatic wrangle over his acceptance of the honor — one of France's highest civilian awards — last Thursday.

The Canadian government sent a "reminder" to the French government which said the award should have been cleared with the Canadian government first.

But Levesque described the government's attitude as "petty."

United States, Russia Equal In Strength

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union are about equal in overall military strength, Secretary of Defense Harold Brown says. The two nations have "a rough parity" in nuclear arms, and "we are roughly comparable militarily," Brown said Sunday on the ABC program "Issues and Answers."

He said there may be fears that a Strategic Arms Limitation Talks agreement would give the Soviets a military edge, but added, "We have no intention of arriving at a SALT agreement that doesn't preserve our nuclear capability."

BLUEBERRY TORTE
It's chockful of the berries.
1½ cups flour, fork-stir before measuring
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ cup butter
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 large eggs
2½ cups large cultivated blueberries
1 tablespoon sugar mixed
Stir together the flour and baking powder. Cream butter, sugar and vanilla; thoroughly beat in eggs, one at a time. Gradually and gently beat in flour mixture until smooth. Fold in blueberries. Turn into a buttered 8 by 8 by 2-inch cake pan; sprinkle with the sugar-cinnamon mixture. Bake in a preheated 325-degree oven until a cake-tester inserted in the center comes out clean — about 1 hour and 15 minutes. Cut in squares in pan and remove with a spatula. Serve warm. Top with whipped cream if you like.

PARSLIED EGG NOODLES
1 pound medium egg noodles
2 tablespoons salt
6 quarts boiling water.
2 to 4 cloves garlic, halved
½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup chopped parsley
1 teaspoon basil leaves
¾ cup grated Parmesan cheese
Gradually add noodles and salt to rapidly boiling water, so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.
Meanwhile, saute garlic in butter until lightly browned. Discard garlic. Add parsley, basil and cheese to butter; heat through. Pour parsley sauce over noodles. Toss. Serve at once.
Yield: 8 servings.

Mississippi Issues 350 Proclamations

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — After less than two years in office, Gov. Cliff Finch appears to be easily outstripping his predecessors in the issuing of gubernatorial proclamations.

The proclamations — embossed, sealed and signed "Proclamation by the Governor" — are usually issued on behalf of noteworthy persons, civic groups, charity organizations and other causes.

But sometimes the honors are rather arcane. Finch proclaimed July 9 "Wolfman Jack Day" in honor of the disc jockey.

Mississippi observed "Jogging Day" with little fanfare Oct. 11.

By proclamation of the governor, this is United States Marine Corps Week and today is Black Elected Officials Day.

That brings Finch's total to more than 350 proclamations in less than two years. In four years in office, his immediate predecessor, Gov. Bill Waller, managed only 420 proclamations, while Waller's predecessor, Gov. John Bell Williams, signed only 325.

Harsha Reports

BY WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
Sixth District Of Ohio

America's millions of veterans, living and dead, will shortly be honored on the traditional November 11th date established in 1953 as Veterans' Day.

Despite the historical significance of the date and its special meaning for veterans, the observance of Veterans' Day was switched in 1968 to the fourth Monday in October as part of a three-day weekend holiday.

Many Americans, and particularly veterans, rightly objected to diluting the importance of Veterans' Day by attaching it to a mini-holiday. Consequently, Congress wisely reinstated November 11th as the official date for honoring our nation's veterans, beginning in 1978.

I supported the reinstatement, and I am glad that starting next year, we will once again treat Veterans' Day with the respect and solemnity it merits.

The contributions of America's veterans to the security and, indeed, the survival of our nation take on ever greater significance in this world of turmoil and declining democracies.

As we watch our allies around the world decline in number, we cannot escape the likelihood that the future will hold new crises. If so, we will need more of the same courage, loyalty, and devotion to duty given in unending measure by those men and women who have served in the armed forces of the United States throughout its history.

When the armistice was signed ending World War I nearly 59 years ago on "the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month," everyone hoped that it had truly been the war to end all wars.

More Contact Between Mother, Baby

CLEVELAND (AP) — A medical conference emphasizing more contact between mothers and babies while still in the hospital is expected to draw 600 persons.

Dr. Marshall H. Klaus, one of the conference organizers, said early bonding between parent and child produces proven benefits.

Babies who have a high level of contact with their mothers while in the hospital are less likely to be back in the hospital for any cause — illness, accident, battering or failure to thrive — during their first year, according to a report to be presented at the conference.

The report is by Dr. Peter M. Vietze of the National Institute for Child Health and Development.

Dr. Robert Sosa, assistant professor of pediatrics at the University of southern Florida said when a mother is given her new child immediately after delivery her milk production is stimulated.

But if the child is taken away to a nursery, the mother may not produce enough milk naturally. If she can't afford to buy a milk formula, the child could face malnutrition and infection.

Sosa said the conference is also important for underdeveloped countries. He said such countries, which seek to copy the U.S. model for child-birth may lose the natural advantages of their traditional birth procedures.

Dr. John Kennell, another conference organizer predicted Sunday that central nurseries in hospitals might be abolished or at least babies would be allowed to remain with their mothers most of the time they're in the hospital.

The meeting is sponsored by Rainbow Babies' and Children's Hospital which has been a center for research into the effects of early closeness between babies and parents.

However, three more large-scale bloody conflicts were to follow. Yet, thanks to those who answered the calls to arms each time, we have survived as one of the world's few remaining democracies and as the most powerful of nations.

Let us hope that America's leaders have the courage and foresight to see that our nation remains powerful. We know that the American people are ready to respond when necessary. Our history is consistent on that point.

Our nearly 30 million living veterans have contributed stability and responsibility in great measure to our society. They know first-hand the importance of preserving peace through strength. They know the consequences of maintaining anything less than the strongest possible military capability.

They are part of the 44 million who have fought to preserve democracy and freedom at home and abroad in 10 major wars from the American Revolution through Vietnam. A million of those paid the ultimate sacrifice.

If the role of these citizen-soldiers has been important in times of war and national emergency, it has been equally significant in peacetime.

America's veterans continue to set the example in preserving patriotism and honoring our great heritage. They have traditionally bolstered our nation's economic, military and spiritual institutions.

We must never forget the debt owed our veterans, nor shrink from our responsibility to them and their needs.

Veterans' Day gives us pause to remember the history written at Yorktown, New Orleans, Gettysburg, San Juan Hill, Ardennes Forest, Normandy, Midway, Inchon, and Hue.

It is a history recorded by millions who served with great valor and great sacrifice.

Farmers Union President Says Carter Must Act

Continuation of the "worst farming conditions in a generation" need not be tolerated, Tony T. Dechant, national president of the Farmers Union, declared here today.

"Aggressive use must be made of the tools available to the Carter Administration to cure the current farm depression," Dechant said at a Ohio Farmers Union sponsored statewide meeting of farmers at the Holiday Inn in Bellefontaine.

"The crucial question is whether Secretary (of Agriculture) Bergland will use his discretionary authority to set crop loans and support levels at higher figures than the bare minimum prescribed in the 1977 farm act," said Dechant.

He pointed out that several courses of action are open to the Administration under the present law.

"Loan rates for wheat, feed grains and soybeans, as well as milk, can be raised to 90 percent of parity," the National Farmers Union leader said. "This could mean a support rate for soybeans, for example, as high as $6.85. The market situation for crops in surplus could be eased substantially through more aggressive administration of storage and set-aside programs."

In addition, he said, simultaneous action is needed to place a "floor" under world grain prices. Otherwise, he noted, "there will be difficulty obtaining a decent domestic price on wheat and feed grains."

Dechant said that the huge supplies of grain available at depressed prices are hindering improvement in the livestock sector.

He said that unless farmers can recover their production costs in 1978, the agricultural credit situation which is "already precarious" will become "completely impossible."

Dechant, of Denver, Colorado, is also president of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers, a global alliance of farm and cooperative organizations from some 60 nations.

Richard Celeste Assembling Nucleus Of Gubernatorial Campaign Team

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With a formal announcement of candidacy set for next week, Lt. Gov. Richard F. Celeste has assembled the nucleus of the team that will wage his 1978 campaign for governor.

Citizens With Celeste began functioning as a fulltime campaign office last week with Ted Celeste, the lieutenant governor's younger brother, at the helm.

Announcements of major staff positions as well as the candidacy itself have been held off until after today's election, but a $50-a-plate breakfast is planned for Nov. 18 to make Celeste's bid for Democratic gubernatorial nomination official.

Ted Celeste, 32, a Columbus realtor in non-campaign years, managed his brother's successful 1974 campaign and went on to direct President Carter's resounding Ohio primary victory last year. After the June election, he worked out of Atlanta as a regional campaign coordinator in the Carter effort against former President Ford.

Here are some sketches of Celeste's other key campaign operatives. For the most part, they are young and liberal and experienced political campaigners.

—Ken Kay, 26, legislative aide to Rep. Edward Koch, D-N.Y., the favorite in today's New York City mayoral election, will serve as field director. Kay, an attorney who worked on Celeste's lieutenant governor's campaign four years ago, will be expected to coordinate a statewide organization.

—David Netzler, 32, former Ohio director of Common Cause, has been named director of operations, a post dealing with internal workings of the Celeste organization. Netzler was controversial figure at the Statehouse during his stretch as a common cause lobbyist, particularly over tactics he used in efforts to get a tough lobby reform bill passed.

—Marjorie Pizzuti, 26, served in the administration of former Gov. John J. Gilligan, and is leaving the office of State Sen. Marcus Roberto to become campaign press secretary. Mrs. Pizzuti, a journalism major at Kent State University, also worked as a public information officer at the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

—David Milenthal, 31, of Milenthal Advertising Inc., who worked as Celeste's press secretary in 1974, returns to handle media operations. Milenthal did television spots last year for the successful Democratic supreme court candidates and is currently working on the Issue 1 campaign.

—Anita Nelan, 25, a planner for the Kentuckyana (Kentucky-Indiana) Regional Planning and Development Agency, will be responsible for the day-to-day workings of the campaign, as deputy director. Miss Nelan worked for President Carter's national campaign staff last year and was responsible for 25 states.

—Jane Walsh, 33, an assistant manager at Ohio Bell, will serve as chief fundraiser. Mrs. Walsh has also worked at the Academy of Contemporary Problems here.

—Jan Allen, 25, is moving over from the lieutenant governor's office to handle scheduling and advance work. Ms. Allen handled the same assignments for Celeste at the Statehouse, and, with the exception of Ted, is probably closest to Celeste and his family.

Biddle Expected Friendly Reception

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Livingston Biddle appeared before the Senate Human Resources Committee for a hearing on his nomination to head the National Endowment for the Arts, he had every reason to expect a friendly reception.

After all, Biddle could cite, among his qualifications, the fact that he had helped draft the legislation that created the endowment, which distributes funds for artistic groups throughout the nation.

And Biddle was still an employee of the committee that would recommend to the Senate whether to approve the appointment.

Predictably, every member of the committee had high praise for Biddle and he was confirmed.

Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-Va., presided and praised the nominee. In return, Biddle allowed that "certainly, West Virginia has taken a leadership role in the arts."

Sen. John Chafee, R-R.I., noted that Biddle has written several books.

"I have read none of them," admitted the senator "but I will rush out and get them."

Biddle was so confident that at one point in the hearing, he may have set some kind of record when he declared his willingness to serve a second four-year term at the endowment before the committee or the Senate had approved him for an initial term.

Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, was growing uneasy. Senators came to the committee meeting, some stayed, some left, but rarely did the number reach nine, the majority needed to transact business.

Several members wanted to vote on a measure involving United States participation in international monetary institutions. But unless nine members were present, any action might be challenged by an opponent who could claim a quorum was not present as required by Senate rules.

Finally, Sparkman glanced at the wall clock. It was nearly 11:30.

Gobbler Race Held

TURLOCK, Calif. (AP) — They waddled, wobbled and gobbled, but with plenty of prodding from their handlers, most contestants finished the first Turkey Tech Grand Prix with feathers flying.

The plump birds and their handlers had to run a course under a three-foot high bar, through a puddle of water and down a lane wide enough for one bird.

On the back side of the U-shaped course, handlers carried their turkeys over a haystack, put them down and then prodded the birds toward the finish line.

Some of the birds were named "Gobble De Guk," "Traveling Drumsticks," "Galloping Gobbler" and "Leaping Gizzards."

A few of the birds refused to race and just sat down, as if to say the effort wasn't worth it, which it probably wasn't from their point of view.

The prizes for winning went to humans, and the gobblers faced the gloomy outlook of being carved up for Thanksgiving dinner in less than three weeks.

According to the Oriental Zodiac, 1977 is the Year of the Snake. A snake year occurs once every 12 years.

Husband's Trips Make Her Jealous

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a very attractive middle-aged man who has never fooled around as far as I know. The company he works for sends him and a professional female co-worker out of town together (just the two of them) on business trips for several days' duration.

It seems to me that since it wouldn't be proper for just the two of them to have dinner together here in our home city, it's hardly fair for the company to send them out of town together.

My husband says it's strictly business relationship, and I believe him. But she's pretty, young and single, and being only human, all that togetherness away from home could hatch a problem that's bigger than the both of them.

How should I handle this?
JUST PLAIN JEALOUS
DEAR JEALOUS: What's to handle? Say nothing. Continue to trust him; expect the best and you'll probably get it. Any other action on your part would be unwise.

DEAR ABBY: Our son and his fiancée are being married soon. Our names were not included on the wedding invitations. When we asked our son about this, he said it was strictly up to the bride, and she selected the form that omitted the names of the bridegroom's parents.

Our friends and relatives disagree. They say that it is a slap in the face and a snub to us, and if we had an ounce of pride, we would not attend our son's wedding. After all, he wasn't laid on a log and hatched by the sun!

Who is right, Abby? What would you do?

Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer, James Shea, was the speaker at the Circleville Kiwanis Club Monday.

Shea has served as the county service officer for over 30 years. He is a member of the Kiwanis Club.

He discussed VA benefits available to veterans. Shea explained these benefits are the nation's way of saying "thank you" to all of those who have given themselves to keep our country safe and free.

Guests Tuesday included Jay Barton, Tom Fullen from Circleville High School Key Club; Wes Barton of Moundbuilder Kiwanis Club.

Next week will be the Kiwanis President's Party. Kiwanis president Walter Hall led the discussion concerning the charity ball and the charity newsies sales Dec. 5.

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE

In The Court of Common Pleas, Pickaway County, Ohio

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE OF LIENS FOR DELINQUENT LAND TAXES, BY ACTION IN REM BY COUNTY TREASURER OF PICKAWAY COUNTY, OHIO

Public Notice is hereby given that on the 26th day of November, 1976, the County Treasurer of Pickaway County, Ohio, filed a complaint in the Court of Common Pleas of Pickaway County, Ohio, at Circleville (stating the City), for the foreclosure of liens for delinquent taxes, assessments, penalties, and charges against certain real property situated in such County as described in said complaint.

The object of the action is to obtain from the court a judgment foreclosing the tax liens against such real estate and ordering the sale of such real estate for the satisfaction of the tax liens thereon.

Such action is brought against the real property only and no personal judgment shall be entered therein.

The permanent parcel number of each parcel included in such action, the full street address of the parcel, if available, a description of the parcel, a statement of the amount of taxes, assessments, penalties and charges due and unpaid on such parcel, and the name and address of the last known owner thereof, as such appear on the general tax list, all as more fully set forth in the complaint, are as follows:

Any person owning or claiming any right, title or interest in, or lien upon, any parcel of real property above listed may file an answer in such action setting forth the nature and amount of interest owned or claimed and any defense or objection to the foreclosure. Such answer must be filed in the office of the undersigned Clerk of Court, and a copy thereof served on the County Prosecutor on or before the 9th day of January, 1978.

If no answer is filed on or before the date specified as the last day for filing an answer, a judgment of foreclosure will be taken by default as to any parcel listed in the complaint as to which no answer has been filed. Any parcel as to which a foreclosure is taken by default shall be sold for the satisfaction of the taxes, assessments, penalties, charges, and costs incurred in the foreclosure that are due and unpaid.

At any time prior to the filing of an entry of confirmation of sale, any owner or lienholder of a parcel listed in the complaint may redeem such parcel by tendering to the County Treasurer the amount of taxes, assessments, penalties, and charges due and unpaid on such parcel, together with all costs which have been incurred in any proceeding instituted against such parcel under Section 5721.18 of the Revised Code. Upon the filing of any entry of confirmation of sale, there shall be no further equity of redemption. Any person thereafter claiming any right, title and interest in, or lien upon, any such parcel shall be forever barred and foreclosed of any such right, title, interest in, lien upon, and any equity of redemption in, such parcel.

Airline Magazines Going In For Uplifting Literature

OVER DENVER (AP) — In case nobody has noticed, the airline in-flight magazines are going in for some very uplifting literature these days.

Now on a cross-country hop or even the milk run out of Scottsbluff, Neb., or aboard the Boston shuttle you can dip into best sellers like Walker Percy's "Lancelot," John Cheever's "Falconer" and Phil Caputo's "A Rumor of War" instead of memorizing that little plastic card telling where the exits are.

So far, none of the jet set culture custodians has dared to break any new literary contrails with an offering like Erica Jong's "Fear of Flying" or Piers Paul Read's "Alive; the Story of Andes Survivors," in which the passenger list gets confused with the menu, but there is real hope for the English language at 37,000 feet.

After years of heavy turbulence on the lips of stewards making cabin announcements, the mother tongue at last may be ticketed, as they say aloft, for friendlier skies and not have to deplane from the rear.

Both "ticketed" (as in "are you ticketed?") and "deplane" failed to make the latest edition of the Oxford English Dictionary, but they are hardly the outer abominations of airline prose.

Just this morning as we were taxiing (to cite another noun converted to a verb at great expense by the aircraft industry) onto the runway, the captain came on the horn to wish us good morning and announce: "This is United's Flight 98 nonstop to Los Angeles. If there is anyone aboard not going to Los Angeles, this might be an excellent opportunity to deplane."

Meaning, I suppose, that it could get a bit dicey deplaning from the rear or wherever when we climbed out over Long Island Sound to our cruising altitude.

"Are you lunching with us today?" cooed a sweet young thing, genuflecting by my side in the aisle in a curtsy borrowed from "The King and I." Have you noticed how courtly cabin crews have become lately, both in gestures and lingo, as the competition for customers gets tougher up there? Now where else did she think I'd be lunching at 27,000 feet over Lake Erie?

The question might be valid on Freddie Laker's no frills, brown bag airline or maybe aboard Air Syria during the Ramadan fast but there wasn't much choice aboard this "non-stopper," as the Flight Services Supervisor — the head stewardess in drag — kept calling our flight.

Somewhere west of the wide Missouri ("Down there on your left," the captain advised those of us who might be inclined to look skyward for the mighty river), the seatbelt sign came on "purely as a routine precaution" on account of what was deemed "light turbulence" was causing pots and pans to rattle in the galley closets, overhead luggage compartments to burst open and one tray of cocktails to seek a higher altitude.

"Our light turbulence unfortunately is accelerating to normal turbulence and we now have head winds," the captain came on again in his normal May Day voice. "so will the flight staff please pick up the cabin and resume their seats?"

Pick up the cabin? Did that include the guy who had fallen out of the John?

A new gimmick on some airlines these days, "as part of our audio program," permits passengers to eavesdrop on conversations between the flight deck and the tower on approach. There the prose style can get very dramatic. It sometimes beats the in-flight movie.

"United 98, take runway four, 275 degrees and taxi to Gate 43."

"What's he doing down there? Who is that? What's his heading?"

"That's Northwest 64. We're using parallel runways today."

"Well, you might have said, so," suggested our cool captain with just a bit of pique trailing sparks from beneath his peaked cap. Then he got back on the blower and in an emotional farewell address thanked us for choosing his airline over all the others in the world. Dickens doing a deathbed number couldn't have phrased it more poignantly.

One felt guilty for passing up Air Ghana, Cathay Pacific and Icelandic Air and all the bereft others to fly into Los Angeles or Scottsbluff or wherever today, but we were grateful for his joy at having us aboard. Gratitude is such a rare commodity in the world today, those of us deplaning through the forward door could barely keep our passions in check acknowledging the stewards' tender adieus and muffled sobs as we passed out into the terminal area to join the unticketed masses in the baggage recovery area.

But for airline rhetoric at its most recherche, nothing has shaken me to the soles of my earth shoes like the question posed by a drawing, magnoliascented young thing at a checkin counter in New Orleans:

"Sir, would you care to pick your seat on the plane?"

I don't know what they do south of the Mason Dixon line, M'am, but up North we have some standards of privacy.

Roger and out.

Reverse Discrimination Termed 'Immoral'

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — An Indiana attorney who helped prepare a brief for the Alan Bakke reverse-discrimination case said he believes special school admission policies for minority students are immoral and destructive to a democratic society.

William Harvey, dean of the Indiana University Law School at Indianapolis, said in the brief prepared for the Pacific Legal Foundation: "If equal protection of the laws is to maintain its constitutional integrity, it must apply to each individual, regardless of race, color or national origin."

Bakke, whose case is before the U.S. Supreme Court, claims minority students who scored lower on admission tests were admitted to the University of California at Davis medical school ahead of him. Bakke, who was twice denied admission to the school, claims the school's special minority admissions policy is unconstitutional.

Four Brothers Prove 'They Would Do It Again'

CABOT, Vt. (AP) — Four Vermont brothers and their wives — with a total of 123 years of married life behind them — have fulfilled a claim they'd made for years: Given the chance, they'd get married all over again.

The four couples repeated their vows Sunday in a special church ceremony replete with crying babies, popping flashbulbs and damp-eyed relatives.

Married again were the Lloyd Lovelys, Robert Lovelys, Ralph Lovelys and Paul Lovelys.

A hush fell over the United Church in Cabot as the couples, in fancy suits and long gowns, marched down the aisle to the strains of the traditional wedding march from Wagner's "Lohengrin." When the organist switched to "I Love You Truly," friends and relatives dabbed their eyes with handkerchiefs.

"None of us ever had church weddings, receptions, honeymoons or even wedding cakes," explained Wilma Lovely, who married Lloyd 34 years ago Sunday. "We were married during wartime."

For Dora Lovely, who eloped with Robert at age 16, the ceremony served as "a booster shot" for the couple's 30-year marriage.

"The first one wasn't the same as doing it in church," she said. "And my parents were very upset because I was so young."

Ralph Lovely was married without the watchful eyes of family members 20 years ago because, as his wife Lola remembered, "We went by ourselves because it seemed like such a sacred thing."

Marge Lovely, married to Paul, endorses the idea of remarriage.

"I'm very grateful for the 39 years Paul and I have been married," she said. "Renewing our vows was something we wanted to do for our own personal gratification."

Others in the congregation rose at the request of the Rev. David McBride to repeat their marriage vows with the Lovelys.

"We pray for their children and grandchildren that from this example each might learn new possibilities for happiness, patience to endure and to understand, and renewed devotion to the marriage vows," McBride said.

The four couples have 11 children and 30 grandchildren among them.

Lloyd and Wilma Lovely were hosts at the reception after the service, and helped cut a huge white cake trimmed with pink and green frosting and topped by four pairs of bride and groom statuettes.

Another tradition was observed, too: "Some things never change," said Paul Lovely. "I'm nervous all over again."

FBI Establishes Crime 'Target Squad'

CLEVELAND (AP) — The FBI has established a second organized crime "target squad" in Cleveland to deal with crimes by public officials, gambling and loansharking.

Among the squad's first targets are the Cleveland Board of Education and a Cleveland police sergeant.

The school board investigation involves possible kickback and bid-fixing schemes on food services and other contracts totaling more than $100 million. The Justice Department's antitrust division is taking part in the investigation.

In the police bribery case, Sgt. Richard Moritz, 43, and Municipal Court Bailiff Emanuel Porter, 47, are charged with soliciting a $2,000 bribe to fix a vehicular homicide case.

FBI agent Patrick T. Laffey was transferred from Washington D.C. to head the unit. His squad was created under the bureau's $2.5 million reorganization of its Cleveland office.

To conserve water, turn it off while brushing the teeth, shaving or washing the face.

Public Welcome At Shawnee Vineyards

Shawnee Vineyards extends an invitation to the people of Pickaway County and the surrounding areas to come out and see the many changes that have taken place during the last several months. Located four miles east of Circleville on Route 56, the restaurant, open to the public seven days a week, has buffets, special nights, businessman's specials on lunches and many other features to make your dining and entertaining enjoyable.

Owner Jack Goode and his staff feature Sunday dining from 11:30 a.m. until 10 p.m. with a buffet from 11:30 a.m. until 2 p.m.

A popular leg of beef buffet is available each Friday from 6 to 9 p.m.

Prime rib lovers can take advantage of Tuesday and Thursday nights when prime rib dinners cost $4.95 per person. Patrons at the restaurant know that Shawnee Vineyards' prime rib is the best.

Shawnee Vineyards also specializes in seafood, lasagna, spaghetti and steaks. The restaurant has a complete menu of appetizers, soups, salads, main courses and desserts.

Shawnee Vineyards opens for lunch through the week at 11 a.m. except Monday. A different businessman's special is featured each day.

All dinners include a salad bar. Weekend evenings include entertainment for your dining pleasure.

Ed Hicks and the Townsmen will be providing music for the next three weekends.

Shawnee Vineyards has facilities for private parties and will cater to parties. They will set up anything from a wine-tasting party to banquets.

Call for information on planning your Christmas party — at the Vineyards or at your place.

Recently, Shawnee Vineyards formed a dining club in order that it provide a fuller service to their customers.

Membership in The Vineyard Club is open to the public. Dues are only $6 per year. By becoming a member you will be able to take advantage of various specials featured at the restaurant.

Monday night is men's night featuring Monday night football throughout the season. Wednesday night is ladies' night.

The Vineyards Club even features a special hour for their members who are shift workers. Members are entitled to discounts that allow them more than their initial investment return.

The folks at Shawnee Vineyards would like to explain how the club works and the membership benefits available for your entertaining and dining pleasure. For details, call Deannie Roby at the restaurant by phoning 474-8918.

Dining is enjoyable in the attractive surroundings of the restaurant. Visitors will soon be greeted by the cheery warmth of the fire as cold weather arrives and the fireplace becomes stoked with wood. Come in and enjoy a great meal with your favorite beverage.

Remember, Shawnee Vineyards' staff wants to serve you, the people of Pickaway County and surrounding areas.

Jack Goode says, "Give us a chance to prove that we can provide the kind of food and service that you are looking for at a reasonable price."

SALAD BAR — Deannie Roby and Jeannie Reichelderfer prepare the salad bar that is included with every evening meal served at Shawnee Vineyards.

ACTIVITIES — Special discounts, nights and activities are part of the benefits of belonging to The Vineyards Club. Membership is open to the public. Here, Deannie Roby and Jeannie Reichelderfer look over the schedule of upcoming activities planned.

DINING ROOM — Shawnee Vineyards' spacious dining facilities are beautifully decorated. The pleasant surroundings offer a feeling of cheery warmth which will be enhanced this winter by a cracklin' fire in the restaurant's stone fireplace. Enjoy a great meal and your favorite beverage at Shawnee Vineyards.

SHAWNEE VINEYARDS — Located four miles east of Circleville on Route 56, Shawnee Vineyards offers the public the best in dining, entertainment and an invitation to join The Vineyards Club, a dining organization.

Forecast For The Fields

By The Associated Press
Here is the agricultural weather forecast for Ohio provided by the National Weather Service:

More rain can be expected in Ohio Wednesday through Friday as a low pressure moves northeastward through the central United States. By the weekend a large high pressure area should dominate all of the Midwest and bring cooling plus some welcome sunshine for all of Ohio.

FIELD CONDITIONS — Rain Monday and through the night has affected all of Ohio. It will be difficult to accomplish any soil working activity now until two or three days of drying. Drying will be minimal until the weekend, when a two or three day period is possible.

HARVEST OUTLOOK — Soybean and grain sorghum moisture increases have been substantial through this damp period and further wetting Wednesday through Friday will maintain high levels. Drying should get underway over the weekend. Indications are that minimum temperatures will drop to upper 30s about Saturday morning. So no freezing is anticipated to help out with any green weed kill in soybean fields. There is little likelihood of corn harvesting activity before the weekend.

SOIL TEMPERATURES — Soil temperatures across Ohio are averaging in the mid 50s in north and the upper 50s to low 60s in central and south. This is well above normal and is responsible for the continued growth of grass and forages. A cooling trend down into 50s is indicated across the state by the weekend and northern areas could decline into upper 40s.

LIVESTOCK MANAGEMENT — Other than damp conditions, weather should be quite tolerable for livestock and poultry. The shift to cooler air for the weekend will take nighttime temperatures only into upper 30s and 40s.

TOBACCO — Good conditions for tobacco bulking and stripping activity can be expected to continue through Friday. Some care will be needed in opening barns to the very damp conditions.

More Rains Threaten Southeastern U.S.

By The Associated Press

The weather system that dumped heavy rains on the Atlantic coast, causing almost 50 deaths in the South and creating commuter snarls and power blackouts in the North began to dissipate today, but a new weather system threatened to dump more rain.

The rains that caused a dam to burst in Toccoa, Ga., on Sunday, killing 38 people, also killed 10 people in North Carolina and one in Tennessee, according to official accounts released Monday.

North Carolina Gov. Jim Hunt wrote to President Carter, saying he would ask for a disaster declaration and relief later this week, after state investigators completed a survey of the damage.

Hundreds of eastern Tennessee families evacuated because of weekend flooding were back in their homes today as Civil Defense officials began tallying the damages. State Civil Defense officials said damage in six counties may exceed the $4.5 million in losses recorded in flooding early last month.

Court To Study Nuclear Plant Liability Limits

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's nuclear energy industry is involved in a Supreme Court fight that could determine its future growth — and possibly its existence.

The court agreed Monday to decide whether power plant operators may be sued for the total amount of damage caused by some future nuclear catastrophe. At present, a $560 million ceiling on court awards is set in federal law.

Congress established the limit to encourage private development of nuclear energy. Government lawyers argue that if plant owners cannot be shielded from unlimited liability for nuclear accidents, no such plants would be built because insurance is not available.

But last March, U.S. District Judge James B. McMillan in Charlotte, N.C., struck down the federal law as unconstitutional. He said it violated the due-process and equal-protection rights of those persons who might someday suffer injury in a nuclear catastrophe.

The Carolina Environmental Study Group, long opposed to a pair of Duke Power Co. nuclear plants in the Charlotte area, challenged the law. Their victory was appealed to the nation's highest court by the federal Nuclear Regulatory Commission and by Duke Power.

Thief Steals $5,300 From Performer

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police said singer Leon Redbone reported a thief broke into his dressing room at Public Music Hall in Cleveland on Saturday and stole $5,300.

Redbone, 35, said he was on stage performing when the break-in occurred.

The Tennessee flooding knocked out the pumping station for Greene County's water supply and Civil Defense officials asked residents to restrict all non-essential use of water.

Flash flood watches were in effect for central and western Massachusetts and all of Rhode Island early today. Two inches of rain fell on New York Monday with winds gusting up to 56 mph. There were arrival and departure delays at Kennedy and LaGuardia airports. Several thousand homes lost electricity briefly in suburban Westchester and Long Island when power lines were knocked down. More rain was expected today.

The weather service today issued coastal flood and gale warnings for northern New Jersey and flash flood warnings for most inland areas.

About 8,000 customers of Atlantic Electric Co. in southern New Jersey were temporarily without electricity Monday due to fallen power lines. An Atlantic City radio station, WFGP, was knocked off the air.

In Philadelphia, thunder and lightning accompanied heavy rains and blustery winds. There were scattered disruptions of commuter rail service and there was scattered street flooding.

Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo were braced for as much as four inches of fresh snow today.

Cold, clear weather was recorded over most of the Midwest, with cloudy or foggy skies over scattered areas.

The Pacific Coast had windy and mostly cloudy weather from Oregon to Southern California, California.

Early morning temperatures around the nation ranged from 20 at Houlton, Maine, and Kalispell, Mont., to 78 at Brownsville, Texas.

State To Begin Work On Park In Cleveland

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state will begin work within days on cleaning up a 385-acre site along Lake Erie, projected as a Cleveland Lakefront Park.

The State Controlling Board released $2 million for the project Monday after the Department of Natural Resources signed a lease agreement with the City of Cleveland for the recreation area.

"We have a tremendous trash clean up program," natural resources spokesman Richard Midden told the board. "We hope we might move in there and beat the weather."

The funding will enable the state agency to pay operational costs of a string of parks along the shoreline until July 1, 1979. It will also allow for clean up and renovation in advance of capital improvements to convert the area to a state park.

The state's capital improvements budget carried a $5 million appropriation for the facelifting.

"Now it's our job to get it up to snuff," Midden said. "We're going to have a policing problem as well as a trash problem."

In other action, the control board: —Released $518,745 for planning of a horse and cattle complex at the Ohio State Fairgrounds.

—Gave the Commission on Aging spending authority in amounts of $908,000 for multipurpose senior center and $1.4 million for community service employment of older Americans.

—Approved a $14,690 consultant's contract between the consumers' counsel and Rothey, Bell & Taub Inc. for work on a Columbia Gas of Ohio rate case in Toledo.

Moeller Remains AP Leader

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Moeller, Elyria Catholic and Sullivan Black River cling to the division leads with one week remaining in The Associated Press' Ohio high school football poll.

Moeller appears to be in the most comfortable position, with a 312-262 lead over runnerup Canton McKinley in Class AAA.

The battle for the other regular season crowns is close. Elyria Catholic owns a 247-237 edge over No. 2 Canton Central Catholic in Class AA. Black River is just two points ahead of second-place Dalton in Class A, 245-243.

A statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters kept the same five contenders in their identical spots as a week ago in the stablest voting of the season.

In Class AAA, Washington Court House Miami Trace again was third, Cincinnati Elder fourth and Barberton fifth. Gahanna held onto sixth, Mentor Lake Catholic jumped three spots to seventh, Lima Senior and Logan shared eighth and newcomer Cleveland St. Joseph was 10th.

In AA, Cincinnati Wyoming appeared in third place, Urbana fourth and Orrville fifth. Pickerington moved up one position to sixth. South Point and Beloit West Branch were tied for No. 7, Brookfield ninth and Mansfield Malabar 10th.

In A, defending playoff champion West Jefferson retained No. 3 while South Charleston Southeastern again was fourth and Hanoverton United No. 5. Beallsville was up one spot to sixth, Newcomerstown seventh, Ashtabula

St. John's eighth and Newark Catholic ninth.

Hamler Henry made its first appearance of the season in the A Top Ten, taking over the 10th spot.

NCAA Lifts Ban Against Minnesota

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — University of Minnesota Athletic Director Paul Giel says he is impressed with the National Collegiate Athletic Association decision to lift an indefinite probation against all university men's sports except basketball.

"I'm sorry the basketball probation was extended," Giel said. "But considering how long all of this has been going on, the lifting of the probation on our entire program should be a morale booster for our athletic department."

The university basketball program remains on probation until Oct. 28, 1978, the university said Monday.

The lifting of the probation was expected after the university ended an impasse with the NCAA by declaring basketball players Mike Thompson and Dave Winey ineligible.

University Vice President Stan Kegler said he expects a decision early next week on the type of suspension the NCAA will hand Winey and Thompson.

That decision is expected to be announced before the Gophers' first basketball game Nov. 16 against the Cuban national team.

The NCAA had contended that Thompson, the Big Ten scoring champion last season, had sold season tickets for more than their face value and that Winey had accepted free lodging at a lake home from a university booster.

The basketball probation dates from the day University President C. Peter Magrath informed the NCAA of the ineligible action taken against the two 6-foot-10 basketball players.

The basketball probation actually amounts to an increased penalty and means the team will not be able to appear in post-season tournaments next spring or on NCAA-sponsored television games this season.

Tackles Share Big 10 Honors

CHICAGO (AP) — Larry Bethea and Melvin Land, a pair of 240-pound senior tackles, shared The Associated Press Big Ten Player of the Week award for outstanding work in Michigan State's 29-10 victory over Minnesota last Saturday.

Bethea had nine tackles including three for losses totaling 21 yards and Land had 10 tackles including three for losses totaling 11 yards as the two led a defense which limited Minnesota to 43 yards on offense in the second half.

Former Minnesota Coach Murray Warmath watched the game and said, "I have not seen a pair of tackles play as good as these two did since the days of Carl Eller and Bobby Bell."

Also nominated for the award were Dave Crossen of Wisconsin, Ron Simpkins of Michigan, Russ Compton of Indiana, Ron Simpkins of Michigan, Tom Cousineau of Ohio State and John Sullivan of Illinois.

Crossen had 28 tackles and caused a fumble although Wisconsin lost to Purdue 22-0; Simpkins had 11 tackles in a 63-20 victory over Northwestern; Compton blocked a field goal attempt and a punt and had seven tackles in a 24-21 triumph against Iowa, Cousineau had 17 tackles in a 35-0 decision over Illinois and Sullivan was in on 27 tackles in the loss to Ohio State.

The award for Player of the Week on offense was announced earlier and went to quarterback Rick Leach of Michigan. Leach broke up a 14-7 game by scoring two touchdowns and passing for two others in the third quarter in the rout of Northwestern.

Daylight Racing To Return To Latonia Track

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Latonia Race Course will return to daylight racing beginning with the opening of the winter meeting Nov. 28 in a move to conserve energy.

David Vance, executive vice president of the Kentucky Jockey Club, said the decision to race in daylight hours was made to cut electric and fuel costs by 33 percent, avoid frozen track surface and pressure from horse owners and jockeys.

However, the track reported increased attendance and betting when it switched to nighttime racing in 1969, the first Kentucky track to do so.

The track suffered many shutdowns last season because of the energy shortages and frigid weather in which jockeys refused to ride on the frozen surface.

The 27-day winter meeting ends Dec. 31. Post time will be 1:30 daily except from Friday nights, 7:30 p.m. Kentucky does not allow Sunday racing.

Colts Stop Redskins In NFL Mud Battle

BALTIMORE (AP) — It was another Monday night victory, not as impressive as a year ago, perhaps, but right on schedule as far as the Baltimore Colts were concerned.

The Colts slogged through the mud in Memorial Stadium to score a 10-3 decision over the Washington Redskins, with a 12-yard pass from Bert Jones to a diving Freddie Scott providing the winning points early in the final quarter.

While it pushed Baltimore's record to 7-1 and kept it alone atop the AFC East, the hardearned triumph in the defense dominated clash of neighborhood rivals was in sharp contrast to the last Monday night game here, one year ago against Houston.

The Colts hosted the Oilers, also in the season's eighth week, and thundered to a 38-14 victory. It proved to be their best effort of the year as they dropped two of their final five games before being easily eliminated in the first round of the playoffs.

But although the margin of victory over the Redskins was much smaller, the Colts felt their latest nationally televised win would show up more decisively in the long run.

"We're hitting our peak at the right time this season," said defensive end Fred Cook. "Last year, I think, we reached our peak too soon. The Houston game was our best, seven weeks before we really needed it. This time we're more confident."

Cook, a four-year veteran, and the rest of the Colts' "Sack Pack" front four put intense pressure on Redskins quarterback Joe Theismann, sacking him five times and helping to create a pair of interceptions by linebacker Stan White.

The Baltimore offense, meanwhile, was controlling the ball, with Jones & Company running off 80 plays to Washington's 54 and using up 12½ more minutes of playing time.

"I said early in the week that we couldn't leave our defense out there all game and still beat the Colts. Well, that's exactly what we did, and I didn't help them any," said Theismann, who completed 11 of 27 throws for 168 yards.

Theismann and the rest of the Redskins, now 4-4 and in third place in the NFC East, thought they had gained a shot at a tie on the final play.

The quarterback's toss from the Baltimore 13 was caught in the end zone by Calvin Hill. But the officials, who had stopped the clock with two seconds remaining as defensive players lined up, ruled that time had run out before the ball was snapped.

"Everybody tells their players to walk back slowly and take their time," Washington Coach George Allen said. "But he (the official) had stopped the clock. If that's the case, then either the clock is wrong or we had a touchdown."

A poor play by the special teams, a perennially strong point of Allen-coached squads, led to the Colts' winning points in the game played in a steady rain on a field soaked by two days of downpour.

Late in the third period, with the score knotted on field goals by Toni Linhart and Mark Moseley, Washington punter Mike Bragg shanked a 22-yard kick out of bounds at the Baltimore 39.

From there, the Colts moved steadily downfield, with Jones suddenly finding the range on passes that earlier had been sailing over the heads of open men or splashing in the mud in front of diving receivers.

"It was hard to really zip the ball in this kind of weather," said Jones, who completed 13 of 27 passes for 180 yards.

On a third-and-seven situation, Jones hit Scott with a bullet over the middle, gaining the first down by inches at the Washington 14. Then after a two-yard run, Jones and Scott connected again, this time for the winning TD on a pass that the Amherst graduate had to stretch full-length to grab in the end zone.

"I knew I would have to dive, but I didn't think I'd have to go that far out," Scott said. "The ball took off a little."

Jones admitted that the scoring toss "wasn't a perfect throw," but said he never wanted to haul it back in once it left his hand.

"I thought it was catchable," he said. "And besides, it was a touchdown. I never want them back."

Westfall Mustangs Girls Win Class 'A' Volleyball Tourney

SECTIONAL CHAMPS — The Westfall Mustangs won the Class 'A' Sectional Tournament Saturday to gain a berth in the district tournament Saturday at Licking Heights. Members of the squad are Paula Azbell, Phoebe Shaw, Lisa Jordan, Sonya

Schilling, Vicki Cottrill, Teresa Stonerock, Kathy Evans, Crystal Metzger, Anita Neff and Dee Anne Clark. Sally Orihood is the coach. The Mustangs beat Columbus School for Girls in the sectional. Match time Saturday is 10 a.m.

The Westfall Mustangs won their bracket of the Class 'A' Sectional Tournament at Groveport Madison High School Saturday by defeating the Columbus School for Girls.

The Scarlet and Grey spikers kept the fans on the edge of their seats in the first game as the Mustangs eked out a 17-15 win.

In the second contest the Columbus team took command and won 15-2.

It looked like a possible repeat in the third game but the Westfall girls rose to the occasion and lit the scoreboard 15 straight times to win the game and the sectional.

Crystal Metzger, Teresa Stonerock, Kathy Evans and Dee Anne Clark were 100 percent on their spikes. Sonya Schillings was perfect on all of her sets and bumps.

Dee Anne Clark and Paula Azbell paced the Mustangs with nine serving points apiece; Vicki Cottrill contributed six points and Crystal Metzger and Sonya Schillings added three each.

Westfall will enter the District Tournament 10 a.m. Saturday at Licking Heights.

Good Small Game Population Seen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rabbit, pheasant and quail will be in ample supply for hunters when the upland game season opens Nov. 15, the Ohio Department of Natural Resources reports.

Based on information from rural mail carriers, who keep track of game they see while driving their routes, and field observations by game protectors, counties where pheasant is most abundant are Clark, Clinton, Fayette, Greene, Lucas, Madison, Mahoning, Ross and Trumbull.

Quail was said to be in best supply in Brown, Clermont, Fairfield, Gallia, Henry, Jackson, Lawrence, Morrow and Wayne counties.

Rabbit hunting should be good statewide, the department said.

Texas Tops College Poll

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer

Led by No. 1-ranked Texas, the nation's nine top college football teams retained their positions today in The Associated Press ratings while defending champion Pittsburgh reappeared in the Top Ten and unbeaten Colgate cracked the rankings for the first time ever.

Texas defeated Houston 35-21 to remain No. 1 for the third week in a row. The Longhorns, 8-0-0 and the nation's only perfect-record team besides No. 20 Colgate, received 61 first-place votes and 1,308 of a possible 1,320 points from a nationwide panel of 66 sports writers and broadcasters.

However, a week ago, with 59 panelists voting, Texas received all but two first-place votes, the others going to runnerup Alabama and seventh-ranked Kentucky. This time, Alabama and No. 5 Notre Dame received two votes apiece with one for Kentucky.

Alabama, a 24-3 winner over Louisiana State, totaled 1,072 points to 1,020 for No. 3 Oklahoma, which thrashed Oklahoma State 61-28. Fourth-ranked Ohio State trounced Illinois 35-0 and received 908 points while Notre Dame crushed Georgia Tech 69-14 and earned 798.

Next came Michigan with 688 points off a 63-20 whipping of Northwestern, followed by Kentucky with 568 after a 28-6 triumph over Vanderbilt. Eighth-ranked Arkansas, a 35-9 victor over Baylor, received 536 points while No. 9 Penn State beat North Carolina State 21-17 and received 464 points.

Pitt, No. 12 last week, walloped West Virginia 44-3 and received 339 points to supplant idle Texas A&M as the No. 10 team. Following Texas A&M in the Second Ten were Nebraska, Brigham Young, Southern California, Clemson, Florida State, Arizona State, Texas Tech, North Carolina and Colgate, whose 9-0 record is the nation's best.

Last week's Second Ten was Nebraska, Pitt, Clemson, BYU, Florida State, Southern Cal, California and Louisiana State with Arizona State and Iowa State tied for 19th.

However, California lost to Washington 50-31, LSU bowed to Alabama and Iowa State was knocked off by Colorado 12-7.

Texas Tech, which had been in the Top Twenty until losing to Texas a week ago, climbed back in by belting Texas Christian 49-17. North Carolina made it for the first time this season by holding Clemson to a 13-13 tie and Colgate flattened Bucknell 49-17.

OSU Gridders Have 4 Shutouts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Woody Hayes is both puzzled and proud. His Ohio State football team has tied a modern school record with four shutouts this season.

"That's amazing when you consider offenses are more diversified now. As a result, it's harder to get a shutout," the Ohio coach of 27 seasons said Monday.

Preparing for invading Indiana Saturday, the Buckeyes already have blanked Miami (Fla.), Purdue, Wisconsin and Illinois. They've yielded 29 of their 64 points in their one loss to Oklahoma.

Since 1940, the only other Ohio State team to post four shutouts in one season was the 1973 team. The Buckeyes have two straight blankings, far short of the school record of 13 in a row in 1899-1900.

"The best aspect of our defense all year has been the ability to make the big play," said Hayes, whose team needs a victory over Indiana to wrap up a record sixth straight Big Ten title or co-title.

Hayes kept on talking about his defense. "They have speed. They have judgment. And they are coached to make the big plays. The minute anybody comes close to the ball, there are 10 other men forming like a bunch of bees. They buzz down the field with the ball."

The Ohio State coach expressed mild concern over a slow-starting attack that nursed a 7-0 halftime lead at Illinois Saturday. The Buckeyes rolled in the second half to a 35-0 victory.

"We'd like to start faster," he said. "But sometimes it is difficult to get your offense started. The team you're meeting has got some new tricks in its defense. It takes awhile to find your blocking adjustments."

Meanwhile, Hayes began tightening security around his practices going into the Indiana and Michigan games.

Victories in both would give the Buckeyes an outright Big Ten crown and their fifth Rose Bowl berth in the last six seasons.

"For the rest of the season," he announced to newsmen, "we will be more reticent about giving interviews with our players. And maybe interviews with our coaches for that reason."

Hayes said it was nothing personal with the media, adding, "The reason is we want to win." The Ohio State coach has had a long-standing policy of not wanting his players to talk to the media.

Hayes said he expects to beat Indiana and anticipates a healthy team to use against the Hoosiers. Only center-guard Mark Lang, center Tim Vogler, tailback Ron Springs and defensive tackle Eddie Beamon have minor injuries. All are expected to play.

Cincinnati Kicker Wears Size 7 Shoe

CINCINNATI (AP) — They call Chris Bahr "Little Foot." But the wee man with a size seven shoe packs a big wallop.

Bahr's kicking heroics have given the revived Cincinnati Bengals — pardon the pun — a foothold in the National Football League playoff chase.

For the second straight week, the 5-foot-9 Bahr made the difference for the Bengals, who are showing signs of bouncing back from a stumbling start.

His longest field goal of the season, a 47-yarder, lifted the Bengals to a 10-7 victory Sunday over the Cleveland Browns. A week earlier, his 22-yard kick gave the Bengals a 13-10 overtime triumph against the Houston Oilers.

"My job is a lot like the pinch hitter in baseball, who has to come off the bench in the 12th inning and get a rally going," said Bahr, a former All-American soccer star from Penn State.

He tries to downplay his role in pro football, saying "I do nothing to get the ball within range. Without the other guys, I'd never get close."

But, he admits, an effective field goal kicker can "lift a team's morale — or destroy it."

His confidence-lifting kicks have the Bengals riding a wave of emotion as they prepare for Sunday's road game with the Minnesota Vikings.

"It's anybody's ballgame now," said quarterback Ken Anderson, jubilant as the Bengals closed the gap in the wideopen American Football Conference Central Division race.

The Bengals are tied for second place at 4-4 with Pittsburgh and Houston, one game behind 5-3 Cleveland.

Bahr, a second round draft in 1976,

Pee Wee Football Sets Super Bowl

The second annual Pee Wee Football Super Bowl will be held 2 p.m. Saturday at Logan Elm High School with player introductions taking place at 1 p.m.

Jim's Super Duper, defending champions, will represent the Black Division while the Elks will be defending the honor of the Blue Division.

Both teams are undefeated and during their regular season encounter battled to a 0-0 tie.

The team players are composed of youths between the ages of eight and 12 years and always provide plenty of action so fans will get a treat Saturday afternoon at Logan Elm.

Pass-receiver Doug Cunningham of Rice played the last five games of the 1976 season with a broken finger.

In 1925, when the National Football League was in its infancy, the player limit per team was a mere 16 men.

In 1969 pitcher Phil Niekro of the Atlanta Braves hurled 284 innings without permitting a sacrifice fly.

College Bowl Scene Taking Shape

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Stop the presses! The main man in determining this year's college bowl picture is not grizzled old Bear Bryant of Alabama but a gentleman in clerical garb who works out of South Bend, Ind.

The name, football fans, is the Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, executive vice president of the University of Notre Dame and chairman of the fancy-named Faculty Board in Control of Athletics. The entire board officially has to approve Father Joyce's recommendation, but they've been listening to him for 25 years so why stop now?

This is the problem: The bowl bids go out Nov. 19 and, according to a Sugar Bowl spokesman, "I'd guess Notre Dame will be everybody's first choice, but they'll have to make a value judgment as to who the No. 1 team will be on bowl day."

So, does Notre Dame, ranked fifth in the nation last week and an impressive 69-14 victor over Georgia Tech, opt for the Cotton Bowl, whose host team probably won't be settled until No. 1-ranked Texas, a 35-21 winner over Houston, meets Texas A&M on Nov. 26?

Or do the Fighting Irish decide that Texas A&M, 10th last week and idle over the weekend, will win the Southwest Conference shootout, thereby changing Notre Dame's course to the Sugar Bowl, where second-ranked Alabama nailed down the host spot, as well as its sixth Southeastern Conference crown in seven years, by trouncing 18th-ranked Louisiana State 24-3? The Crimson Tide has two regular-season chances left to lose — slim and none, alias Miami and Auburn and you pick which is which.

Or will it be Notre Dame's opinion that Oklahoma, currently ranked No. 3 and a 61-28 romper over Oklahoma State, will turn back Nebraska on Nov. 25 — the Sooners must first face Colorado next Saturday — win the Big Eight championship and become a stronger opponent in the Orange Bowl?

And now, the envelope, please. "It would be nice if we could wait," says a source close to Notre Dame, "but if Texas is No. 1 on Nov. 19, we've got to go with them."

Of course, 13th-ranked Clemson, which was held to a 13-13 deadlock by North Carolina — guess what Clemson's unlucky number was this weekend — could spoil all the guesswork by upsetting the Irish come Saturday.

But if all goes according to form, it will probably be Texas-Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl, Alabama against the Ohio State-Michigan Nov. 19 loser in the Sugar Bowl and Oklahoma against the Nov. 26 Penn State-Pitt winner in the Orange Bowl, the loser perhaps winding up in the Gator Bowl.

"It's still kind of a confusing picture, but I think a lot of people will be jumping on Nov. 19," says another bowl official. "The results this week (Notre Dame-Clemson, Arkansas-Texas A&M, Colorado-Oklahoma, Brigham Young-Arizona State) will start settling the dust."

The Rose Bowl, of course, will pit the Ohio State-Michigan winner against the Pacific-8 champ, either Southern California, UCLA or Washington. While fourth-ranked Ohio State was trimming Illinois 35-0, No. 6 Michigan flattened Northwestern 63-20, No. 16 Southern Cal bombed Stanford 49-0, Washington knocked off No. 17 California 50-31 and UCLA turned back Oregon 21-3.

Besides Alabama, Louisiana Tech also won its way into a bowl. The Bulldogs defeated Lamar 23-6 to capture the Southland Conference crown and the host berth in the Independence Bowl.

Elsewhere, No. 7 Kentucky whipped Vanderbilt 28-6, No. 8 Arkansas bopped Baylor 35-9, No. 9 Penn State edged North Carolina State 21-17 and No. 10 Texas A&M was idle.

In the Second Ten, No. 11 Nebraska beat Missouri 21-10, No. 12 Pitt drubbed West Virginia 44-3, No. 14 Brigham Young trounced Utah 38-8 as Marc Wilson passed for an NCAA record 571 yards and five touchdowns and No. 15 Florida State nipped Virginia Tech 23-21. Arizona State, tied for 19th, mauled Wyoming 45-0 while Iowa State, the other half of the No. 19 parlay, lost to Colorado 12-7.

As usual, Texas was led by Earl Campbell, who plowed for 173 yards and three touchdowns against Houston and moved into sixth place on the all-time NCAA rushing list with a career total of 3,887.

Wilson, who became a starter when Gifford Nielsen was injured, completed 26 of 41 passes in erasing the major college passing mark of 561 yards by Utah State's Tony Adams — also against Utah — in 1972.

Wilson also surpassed the small college record of 568 set by Bob Toledo of San Francisco State in 1967. Ironically, Tom Stine of Central Methodist set an NAIA record Saturday by also passing for 571 yards in a wild 56-43 triumph over Culverston. That wiped out the mark of 564 set last year by Abilene Christian's Jim Reese.

Meanwhile, Grambling State's Doug Williams completed 23 of 30 passes for 378 yards and seven touchdowns to become the NCAA's all-time pass yardage leader with a total of 7,551, two more than Florida's John Reeves. Williams also upped his record for career touchdown passes to 84.

Foreman May Return

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

"George been acting funny lately — restless like," said the mother of the former world heavyweight champion. "I spect he may be wantin' to get back in the ring."

"After all, fightin' was his world. It was all he ever did. It was all he lived for. If it would make him happy, I wouldn't raise any objections."

Is George Foreman, who demolished Joe Frazier twice and stopped Ken Norton in two rounds, planning a comeback?

Such a rumor circulated today in the wake of Ken Norton's split decision victory over Jimmy Young and the failure of champion Muhammad Ali to definitely commit himself to a bout with the winner.

Naturally, the first thing to do was put in a call to George. But where was George?

The George Foreman Development Corp., 3120 Southwest Thruway, Houston, Texas, said the boss wasn't around. He had gone to Marshall. That's the little Texas town where George was born.

The phone rang at the 2½-acre Foreman farm. George wasn't there, either. But his mother was. She would pass the message on to George. He was out somewhere evangelizing.

In April, after a shocking defeat at the hands of Jimmy Young, Foreman told of a vision from Heaven which directed him to go out and give the message of the Bible to the masses.

"I go where God leads me," he said. Less than a month later he announced he was retiring from the ring because of his religious beliefs and his love for his mother.

George's mom, who was separated from Foreman's father when their son was 5, said that was so when George first began his ring career but not necessarily the case now.

Foreman's re-emergence would give a boost to a sport that is threatened by the re-run doldrums.

What's next? A fourth Ali-Norton bout? Perish the thought. Fifteen rounds of packaged boredom, proving nothing. A comeback by Smokin' Joe Frazier against Earnie Shavers? The Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Old Pugilists wouldn't stand for it. A succession of Bums of the Month for the great Ali? Forget it.

Heavyweight boxing is in trouble. Ali's act is as jaded as Milton Berle's Comedy Hour.

Only Foreman, age 29, is capable of generating new excitement. A 6-foot-4, 225-pound monster, he has proven he can crush any man he can catch, as Frazier and Norton will attest. He was neutralized by Ali's rope-a-dope in Zaire and Young's fancy counter-punching in Puerto Rico, defeats he could charge off to naivete.

"He got going too fast, he never got a chance to breathe," said his sympathetic mother. "I see a big difference in him now. He has control of his life. But I wonder about him. I keep thinking he wants to fight again."

Views On Television

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lee Marvin, the hard-charging, Oscar-winning actor, appears on TV about as often as the sun rises in the West. But he'll be appearing in a two-hour NBC special next Nov. 17.

Not as a villain or semigood guy, though. He's guest-hosting "Superstar," in which Hollywood's stuntsmen and women demonstrate how they take the lumps while the actors take the bows.

He says he also is doing a stunt or two, but has left the truly hard stuff — such as a midair leap from one plane to another — to the professionals he's known in his 26-year career in films here.

"They're all friends of mine and we've had a good relationship over the years," he said. "So when they asked me to represent them, I said, 'Hell, yes, be glad to.'"

Marvin, 53, spoke by phone from his home in Tucson, Ariz. At the time he was getting set for a trip to Australia for purposes of catching marlin before starting work on his next movie, "Big Red One."

The film is about the famed 1st Infantry Division in Europe during World War II. Marvin was in that war, as a Marine, and was wounded in combat against the Japanese on the Pacific island of Saipan.

Asked where he was hit, he promptly replied: "I was a good Marine. Now where does a good Marine get hit?"

A chance guess — in what the Navy calls the aft section — proved correct.

"That's right," he said. "All my pals laughed, said, 'Oh, boy, 'Captain Marvel' got it.' He laughed, too, but the truth is, he spent 15 months recovering from the wound.

During that grim period, the tall, rugged New York native met an off-Broadway theater owner who cast him in a play, "Roadside." Marvin decided to study acting formally and has been in the dodge ever since.

A veteran of over 30 movies, the first being "You're in the Navy Now" in 1961, he often specializes in playing tough, hard-boiled guys who'll remove a guy's head before the morning's first boilermaker.

He did that even as a cop in "M Squad," his first and, he hopes, last weekly TV series. He says he took the job simply because it came at a time the film industry was in a slump, ditto the villain market.

After his show ended in 1968, he still made a few bob in a few films and TV roles. But it wasn't until 1965 that he struck gold as a drunk, over-the-hill gunfighter restored to fighting trim in the Western comedy, "Cat Ballou." It earned him an Academy Award.

Ups And Downs

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California is a state of extremes.

Within it, according to Rand McNally's "Mobil Travel Guide Series," are the lowest and highest points in the contiguous United States — Death Valley (282 feet below sea level) and Mount Whitney (14,496 feet high).

Film Rights

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Paramount Pictures says it has acquired the film rights to "Lase," a novel by Gene Thompson.

The novel, published by Random House, deals with "murder by supernatural forces and the terror of witchcraft in 20th century California."

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

FOR WEDNESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Some intrigue likely in occupational circles. YOU remain discreet and keep involvement to a minimum.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Bonuses indicated from past efforts. These should give you new incentive, perhaps a whole new approach to further successes. Long-range plans favored.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): A good period for branching out into new fields if your regular activities allow you the time. Creative interests especially favored.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You may encounter what seems to be undue opposition. Take whatever steps are necessary to overcome it, but do not mistake honest discussion for hostility.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Exercise extreme caution in financial matters. Due to having insufficient data, there could be danger in signing contracts, especially.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): A new light thrown upon certain situations should prime you for fine advancement in the office. Rouse yourself to work for superlative attainment.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): A good day for occupational interests. Outlook especially favorable if you are seeking favors from superiors.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Not a prime period for trying to push pet schemes; for taking the initiative generally. Concentrate on routine activities.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): As with Scorpio, you may not be in the best position to take action on a cherished project just now, but that needn't deter you from keeping your plans in mind.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Good stellar influences. Especially favored: real estate interests, home improvements, family concerns and social activities.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): With further thought, you now see possibilities in hitherto barren areas of achievement so, if you're in a mood to take a chance, go ahead. Success likely.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Your impulse to "get going" should be checked until associates are ready to join you. Forcing matters will only lead to dissension.

YOU BORN TODAY are a mentally alert, enthusiastic individual, endowed with tremendous drive and initiative. Scorpio is a Sign of both creativity and practicality, so you can be equally adept in business enterprises or an artistic career. You are gregarious, a born organizer and leader. Impulsive at times and quickly aroused to anger, you are, however, as quick to forget your resentments and hostilities, and usually "bend backward" to make up for hasty words. Fields in which you could excel: the law, education, medicine, writing, business management. Also, there is no field of art which is closed to you — and some aspect of it should be taken up, even if only avocationally. Birthdate of: Mark Akenside, poet, philosopher.

Social Security Alerts CHAMPUS Beneficiaries

The Social Security Administration has established a special Medicare enrollment period for CHAMPUS beneficiaries because of a recent Department of Defense ruling. Beginning January 1, 1978, CHAMPUS (civilian health and medical program of the uniformed services) no longer covers beneficiaries who are entitled to Medicare hospital insurance. Many CHAMPUS beneficiaries entitled to Medicare hospital insurance haven't signed up for Medicare medical insurance because their CHAMPUS coverage gave them similar protection. But when their CHAMPUS coverage ends in January, these people will be without medical insurance protection unless they sign up now for Medicare medical insurance. The special enrollment period runs through December 31, 1977, and gives CHAMPUS beneficiaries the opportunity to sign up for Medicare medical insurance before their CHAMPUS coverage ends. All CHAMPUS beneficiaries who now have Medicare hospital insurance but have not enrolled in Medicare medical insurance should contact any social security office during this period. For those who enroll before the end of the year, Medicare medical insurance protection begins on January 1, when their CHAMPUS coverage ends. Thus, they will have continuous medical insurance protection. CHAMPUS beneficiaries who don't sign up for Medicare medical insurance during this special enrollment period can enroll later in a regular Medicare enrollment period — the first 3 months of each year. But they will lose several months of valuable medical insurance protection because Medicare medical insurance coverage cannot begin until July of the year they enroll.

young men and women when tragedy does strike, they have some inner strength," he said.

One young woman spoke of God's presence on campus. "We pray He'll raise spiritual giants from among us," said Lorene Hays, 24, a senior from Utica, N.Y.

"I know that it is God's college," said Dale Griffith, 22, a student from Albion, Pa. "So therefore God will take care of his people."

The dam was owned by the school and once provided its electric power. Dr. Kenn Opperman, president of the 550-pupil college, said he knew of no routine inspection program, although he said roads in the vicinity were checked last Friday because of plans to lay gravel.

"Right now, the emphasis is not in looking for fault," Tom Perdue, Gov. George Busbee's administrative assistant, said Monday.

"This dam held water for 30 or 40 years," he said. "There was no reason to think this dam was going to collapse."

Personnel from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers checked the remains of the dam Monday. Col. Frank Walter, district engineer at Savannah, said he could not say what caused the dam to break.

"We might never know what caused it," Walter said.

Busbee asked President Carter to send federal experts to help determine why the dam broke. Carter declared Stephens County a federal disaster area Monday, making victims eligible for low-interest loans for farms and businesses.

Opperman said no students or faculty members had ever expressed concern to him about the dam itself, but some students said they had been worried.

"Some people felt that the dam should have been looked into," said Lenny Rasor, 21, a ministerial student from Celina, Ohio. "But mostly they just worried about the flooding. Usually, once a year, there was a small overflow but nothing like this."

Opperman said the college had a system to warn of flood danger — volunteer firemen from the college went door-to-door. Two of Sunday's victims were doing just that when the wall of water swept away a cluster of houses and mobile homes in seconds.

Deputies Investigate Accidents

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Office investigated two injury accidents Monday.

The first occurred on County Road 500, one tenths of a mile south of U.S. Route 62.

According to the report, Mark A. Stage, 22, Mt. Sterling, was southbound on County Road 500, when he failed to negotiate a curve in the roadway.

His auto went left of center and left the roadway, striking a sign post and a telephone pole.

Stage received a laceration to his right ear, abrasions to his right leg, and pains in the right shoulder. He was cited for driving left of center by Deputy Sheriff Timothy Hasselbring.

The second accident occurred at 2:51 p.m. on State Road 674, 264 feet north of Alspach Road.

The report states that a car driven by Mark Matyar, 17, Canal Winchester, was southbound on State Route 674, when his car was struck by a car driven by William E. Boyd, 22, Whitehall.

The Matyar auto rolled to its side and into a ditch along the roadway. Boyd's car also travelled into a ditch. Both vehicles sustained heavy damage.

Matyar and two passengers in his car received minor contusions and abrasions. They were referred to their family doctors for treatment.

Boyd received a broken nose, fractured facial bones, and a head contusion. He was transported to Mt. Carmel East Hospital in Columbus by the Bloom Twp. Emergency Squad. He was admitted for treatment of his injuries.

The accident is still under investigation.

McQueen, MacGraw Are Separated

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Steve McQueen and Ali MacGraw have separated and one of them probably will file for divorce, their lawyer says.

Attorney Ken Ziffir said Monday the parting of the couple, married four years ago in a Cheyenne, Wyo., city park under a cottonwood tree, was amicable, and they are remaining "on very friendly terms."

McQueen, 47, has starred in "The Great Escape," "Bullitt," "The Thomas Crown Affair" and others.

Miss MacGraw, 38, who appeared in "Goodbye, Columbus" and "Love Story," has just finished filming "Convoy," her first movie since she quit show business when she married McQueen.

Her new movie is a film about truckers directed by Sam Peckinpah. It was completed last summer in New Mexico.

Female Pigeon Thinks She Is A Male Duck

LONDON, Ontario (AP) — A female pigeon named Pidge, who thinks she is a male duck, has been placed in solitary confinement for interfering with the amorous overtures of the ducks at the University of Western Ontario's Zoology Department.

Pidge has been with the department for 12 years, the sole survivor of a flock of 100 pigeons used for research. And for six years she has been permitted to reside in a colony of ducks.

It was discovered that none of the eggs laid by the ducks produced ducklings. So Bob Keith, an animal technician, began spying on the ducks and found that in spite of the correct approach by amorous drakes to female ducks, Pidge would drive them away.

She set herself up as the sole lover for the duck colony, said Professor T.K.R. Bourns.

The misguided pigeon was placed in solitary, and without Pidge's interference the female ducks were laying fertile eggs in a matter of days.

Preaching Mission Speaker Is Named

Dr. Eugene Sterner, a minister of the Church of God, Anderson, Ind., will be the speaker for the 1978 Pre-Lenten Preaching Mission planned by the Pickaway County Ministerial Assn. His name was inadvertently omitted from a story concerning the preaching mission which appeared in Monday's edition of The Herald.

The Preaching Mission will be held February 5-8 at the Community United Methodist Church. The Rev. Roy Heimbach is chairman of the committee for the preaching mission.

TRAINING — A student at Laurelville Elementary School practices mouth-to-mouth resuscitation on a mannequin when learning first aid at the school.

Class Taught First Aid

A visitor to the 6th grade Health class of Alan Cohan, teacher at Laurelville School, would have seen students acting calmly and competently in dealing with respiratory first aid problems.

Laurelville Librarian, Lizz Jones, a trained CPR (Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation) instructor conducted the week long training session. She was assisted by three Resuscitation Annie mannequins and a baby mannequin.

Students learn how to clear the air passage of a victim, perform mouth to mouth resuscitation, and deal with someone who is choking. They also learned to recognize the symptoms of a heart attack and methods of getting help to cope with emergency situations.

Thirty-nine students will receive their first degree cards from the American Heart Association this week. These are the students who showed competence in all phases of the program when tested.

Ms. Jones also conducted a before-school class for teachers. Eight of the Laurelville staff attended. In addition to what the children learned, the teachers were trained in the actual treatment given to a heart attack victim.

October 28, was an exhausting, but informative, day for 51 Laurelville Elementary School fifth graders as they visited five of the Hocking Hills State Parks. The trip concluded a three week study of geology in Alan Cohen's science classes.

Transportation was provided by mothers of eight students. These ladies hiked through the parks with the fifth graders.

The tour began at Conkle's Hollow and proceeded to Old Man's Cave where lunch was enjoyed. The afternoon was spent visiting Ash Cave, Cedar Falls, and The Rock House.

The students had checklists of the beautiful and unusual rock features found at the parks, and recorded their findings throughout the day. Overhang caves, pot-holes, rock windows and slump blocks were the favorite formations.

Cohen feels that it is necessary for residents of Hocking County to develop an appreciation of the excellent natural area in which they are privileged to live. Hopefully the trips did something to promote this idea.

Mike Woodward, also a Laurelville teacher, assisted with the trip.

Authorities Investigate Death Of Mother, Son

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Authorities planned an autopsy today to determine the cause of death of a 9-month-old boy and his mother, who apparently died while giving birth to another child.

Their bodies were found Monday in a sparsely furnished apartment where police said they died at least a week ago.

"The whole thing is puzzling right now simply because we don't have much to go on," said John Castle, a spokesman for the Franklin County coroner's office.

The woman was identified as Mariam Herman, 30, and her son as Jerold Herman.

Castle said a brother, Dr. William H. Overholser of Granville, Ohio, made the identifications after viewing photographs of the decomposed bodies.

Overholser was unavailable for comment. Mrs. Herman's mother, Mariam Overholser, and a sister, Terri Overholser, also live in Columbus, according to Castle and a spokesman for a Columbus funeral home.

A rental agent investigating complaints of a foul odor coming from Mrs. Herman's apartment found the bodies.

A neighbor who lives in the apartment below said Mrs. Herman moved in about two months ago and quoted her as saying she came from San Diego to obtain treatment for Jerold's epilepsy at Columbus Children's Hospital.

However, officials at Children's Hospital, which has received national attention for use of sodium valproate in an epilepsy treatment program, said they have no record of treating Jerold or anyone with a similar name.

"She was obviously lonely," said the neighbor, Eleanor Adrean, 63, a bedridden cancer patient. "She would wave at us when she left for the hospital. She stopped almost every day to speak."

Mrs. Adrean and Troxler said they did not know Mrs. Herman was pregnant. They described her as about 5-foot-4 inches tall and weighing 150-175 pounds.

"I called the police last Saturday night because of the bad odor from upstairs," said Earnest Troxler, 57, who lives with and cares for his widowed sister, Mrs. Adrean. "They pushed a back door open but it was chained from inside and they said the kitchen was full of trash and this caused the odor."

"We hadn't seen her since a week ago Thursday (Oct. 27)," Mrs. Adrean said. "Two people came looking for her since then. It was a couple who said she worked for them some time. We didn't get their names."

Jury Finds Defendant Guilty

Roy Shannon Spriggs, 28, Paintsville, Ky., was found guilty Monday by a Pickaway County Common Pleas jury.

Spriggs had pleaded innocent to a charge of grand theft. He was charged with taking a truck from a car dealer in South Bloomfield without the consent of the owner.

The jury deliberated 40 minutes. Members of the jury were: Doris M. Gulick, William Hay Jr., Linda Rodimel, Cyril M. Stickel, Gordon J. Rihl, Larry R. Dietrich, William Bresler, Eldora L. Van Pelt, Helen F. Peters, Harold L. Baird Sr., Helga I. Rinehart, Charles A. Moss, Bernice G. Smith, alternate.

Judge Ammer sentenced Spriggs to a term of 18 months to five years in the Ohio Penitentiary.

James D. Morrison, Columbus, pleaded no contest to a charge of aggravated vehicular homicide. He was accused of driving left of center on Route 62 on Sept. 1, resulting in an accident in which a person was killed. Judge Ammer ordered a pre sentence report.

rental agent Monday about the odor. The agent, Robert Myers, notified firemen at a nearby station.

"We were worried about her but I heard noises a few times at night and so we didn't think much of it," Mrs. Adrean said. "It must have been the baby. He jabbered a lot. He was trying to talk, but we never heard him cry."

"I don't know why, if he was hungry, why we didn't hear him cry ..."

Mrs. Adrean said the gas company turned off Mrs. Herman's gas once, but it was a mistake and the gas was turned on again.

"She came down here to cook the baby's breakfast for a couple of days until the gas was back on," the neighbor said. "It was warm and they didn't need heat. She said the baby ate lunch at the hospital."

"He crawled like a ball of fire. It was the sweetest baby you ever saw."

Junior High Schedules Parent Meetings

Throughout the nation, there is a wide acceptance of the view that parents must work closely with the schools if students are to reach their full educational potential.

Problems of discipline, motivation, poor work and study habits, drug and alcohol addiction and other problems must be corrected.

It is probably no exaggeration to say that the next great advance in education will come when parents work as a team. Therefore, parents of Circleville Junior High School students are invited to attend a series of group meetings which will begin at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The purpose of these meetings will be to share mutual concerns regarding our youth. Hopefully, this open communication between parent and the school will enable all involved to help direct our youth toward a more successful and rewarding future.

These meetings will be coordinated by the Circleville Junior High School counselors Sharon Wilamowski and Noel Davis.

The meeting will be held in room 104 and the counselors are requesting that all parents please enter the main entrance on South Court Street. If any questions, please call 474-1521 between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.
